Pakistan's Premier Is Slain Near Kashmir

Mossadegh Speaks for Iran

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran reads the opening part of a 31-page statement which warned the United Nations Security Council to keep out of the British-Iranian oil dispute. Declaring flatly at New York that Iran will not be coerced, the aged Premier closed the door on further talks with Britain except on indemnities and the sale of oil.

Iranian Premier Makes Appearance Before Security Council, Tells of 'Exploitation'

Jebb Takes Time

Anglo Representative Is to Hear Second Speech Before Replying

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Britain and Iran moved into the second round of discussion of their oil dispute before the UN Security Council today, still sharply at odds over settlement.

Iran's Premier Mohammed Mossadegh worked through last night on another installment of his speech attacking British handling of oil in Iran. Security Council officials said that if a solution can be hammered out in the council, it will take at least another meeting tomorrow to do it.

Today's session at the Flushing Meadow meeting hall is scheduled for 3 p. m. (EST).

The Iranian premier made his first appearance before a jammed council session yesterday. He spoke for almost 15 minutes in forceful, emphatic French before turning over to an aide the burden of his hour-long argument that Britain has exploited the South Iran oil fields and that the oil dispute is no business of the Security Council.

No Emotional Outbursts

For the crowded chamber and the American television audience, Mossadegh displayed none of the emotional outbursts which characterize his speeches at home. He read his prepared statement slowly and calmly. There was not a tear, not a faint.

Mossadegh said he would speak today on a revised resolution the British have submitted calling for new talks. The British withdrew an earlier resolution implying censure of Iran.

His statement yesterday, Mossadegh said, was directed at the earlier resolution.

Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb said he would have to wait for Mossadegh's new statement before he could present his final argument.

'Some Are False'

Jebb said of Mossadegh's accusations against the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company that "some are false, some are exaggerated." He also denied the Iranian's charges that Britain used force against Iran.

A handshake meeting between Jebb and Mossadegh, arranged by UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie in his office after the session, failed to make peace.

Jebb said that if Mossadegh keeps up his present line of accusations against Britain and the Anglo-Iranian, he will stress their falsity.

An Iranian spokesman said earlier that Iran will take part in new talks with the British only to discuss indemnities due the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company and continued purchase of Iranian oil by Britain.

Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate, said last night that the prospects for negotiations between Britain and Iran looked hopeful. He noted "commendable moderation" in the statements from both nations and said these "had a tone and color that shows the parties are interested in peace."

Taft Announces His Candidacy for 1952

Washington, Oct. 26 (AP) — Senator Taft announced today he is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I am going to run because I believe I can conduct the only kind of a campaign which will elect a Republican to office," the senator told a crowded press conference.

Taft issued three carefully prepared statements to more than 100 newsmen, photographers and others who filled the large committee room used by Republican senators.

The longest statement said he would enter the Wisconsin presidential primary and also accept the bid of Ohio delegates to the nominating convention next year.

CIO Asks Houses Reject Tax Bill For Added Study

Body Favors Sum Asked, Says It Is Hard on Low, Middle Incomes

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Administration leaders signaled for quick one-two action by the House and Senate today to clear a $5,732,000,000 tax increase to President Truman.

Final approval was taken for granted in both houses, although Republican opponents of the tax boost were ready to make a motion—if only for the record—to return the bill to a joint conference committee which worked out the final draft. The legislation at this stage is not subject to amendment from the floor.

Democratic Leader McFarland (Ariz.) told the Senate to be ready to take up the bill as soon as House action was completed.

In the House, Republican Leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts announced he would vote against it as a protest against what he called "the most reckless spending spree" in history.

Rejection Asked

The CIO, meanwhile, called on the Senate and House to reject the measure and send it back to the conference committee. In letters sent to congressional leaders, the labor organization contended that the bill:

(1) Increases taxes on low and middle income groups by about 11¾ per cent and those on millionaires by only 1½ per cent; (2) imposes a hardship on low and middle income families by boosting excise taxes; (3) provides an insufficient increase in corporation taxes.

The CIO said it believes taxes should be raised by the $10,000,-

Cease-Fire Line To Go With Front

That Is Ridgway Report as UN Troops Drive Northward

Tokyo, Oct. 16 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today United Nations troops will continue to drive northward in Korea—and allied demands for a cease-fire line will advance with the front.

The UN supreme commander conferred later for an hour with Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief allied truce negotiator, who flew in from Korea.

Presumably Joy gave a full report on attempts to reopen armistice negotiations, which the Reds broke off Aug. 23.

Liaison officers are still jockeying over the extent of neutral areas to be set up around the negotiators. Communists submitted a new proposal Tuesday. The allies turned it down.

The liaison officers scheduled another meeting for 10 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. Tuesday E.S.T.) at Panmunjom, selected as the site for renewing truce talks.

Enlargement Proposed

A release from UN command advance headquarters in Korea said the Reds proposed enlarging the neutral area around Munsan, where the UN truce team has its headquarters. They also proposed creating a three-mile wide corridor centered on the road linking Munsan and Kaesong, Red truce headquarters and former negotiation site. Panmunjom is on this road.

A UN command statement released at Munsan said this "would increase the area in which violations could occur to about 175 square miles."

The statement said the allies prefer cutting the area to "less than 20 square miles."

This could be accomplished by coupling the previous Red suggestion for a 1,000-yard protected zone around Panmunjom and 3,000 around Munsan with the allied proposal for reducing the Kaesong area to 3,000 yards (less than two miles.) Kaesong is in a five-mile protected area under the original agreement. The Reds have balked at cutting it.

Smoke Billows Skyward After Stock Car Crash

Dense black smoke rolls up from burning gasoline after a stock car crashed against the concrete wall of a mechanics' pit and caught fire during a race on the Langhorne, Pa., speedway, Oct. 14. Flames from the first machine, driven by Frank Holtzhauer, of Lakewood, N. J., spread along the track to the car of James Bellinato, of Paterson, N. J., setting it afire. Ten stock cars piled up in a series of three crashes and eight drivers and a mechanic were injured.

Assassin Caught

Crowd Is Said to Have Torn Man to Pieces on Spot

New Delhi, India, Oct. 16 (AP)—Pakistan's prime minister and guiding light, Liaquat Ali Khan, was assassinated tonight by a man supporting the idea of a "holy war" against India.

Liaquat, 56, was shot twice—in the head and chest—and died in a hospital. He was attacked as he rose to speak to a Moslem crowd at Rawalpindi, in the Punjab near the troubled state of Kashmir—the crux of a long-standing dispute between Pakistan and India.

The Pakistan office in London said the incensed crowd attacked the assassin "and tore him to pieces on the spot."

Right-Wing Moslem

The spokesman said the killer, named Khaksaw, evidently belonged to an extreme right-wing sect of the Moslem religion. This group has been active in the Punjab region, and has expressed its dissatisfaction with "Liaquat's policy of moderation" toward India and other problems, the Pakistan official said. The sect is led by a man named Alama Mashriqi and it favors "jehad," or holy war, against India on the Kashmir issue.

The assassination brought the Moslem world to the brink of a new crisis at a time the western powers are trying to shore up defenses there against the threats of communism. All Islam, from Morocco to Jakarta, is restive. Only this week, Egypt has voted to throw the British out of the Suez Canal zone, and to shun a defense alliance with the United States and other western powers. Iran and Iraq, with their oil riches, are other sore points.

Fifth Killed This Year

Liaquat was the fifth Moslem leader killed this year. He had been prime minister of Pakistan—first premier of the country formed in the splitting of India—since August 1947. He took over top leadership of the nation in September, 1948, upon the death of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of the Moselm League and Pakistan's first governor-general.

Pakistan is one of the receipients of "point four" aid from the United States. Liaquat Ali visited President Truman in Washington last year.

Preliminary reports described the country as quiet following the assassination, but diplomats said cool judgment would be essential to keep the Indian subcontinent out of war.

The prime minister had arrived in Rawalpindi today for a six-day tour of the northwest frontier bordering on Kashmir.

Officials in neighboring India long have been aware that extremists in Pakistan have been trying to push the government into a more forceful Kashmir policy. Last March a group of alleged plotters, headed by the Pakistani army chief of staff, was arrested and charged with attempting to overthrow Liaquat and make war on Indian forces in Kashmir.

Is Wild Area

Rawalpindi is in an undisciplined frontier area which also is the scene of many movements of tribesmen for autonomy.

Kashmir, predominantly Moslem in population, acceded to Hindu India after the partition of the subcontinent, because it was ruled by a Hindu Maharajah at the time. Pakistan disputes India's claim and troops have been facing each other across a line of demarcation while the United Nations tried to settle the ominous quarrel.

The hard-working prime minister was a brilliant speaker and skilled debater who did much of the spade work that achieved the separation of Pakistan as a state

Protests by Wicks, Newkirk Result In Train Probe

British, Egyptians Clash; 12 Killed

Britain Sends Troops to Reinforce Suez Canal Force

Cairo, Oct. 16 (AP) — British troops, called out to quell rioting in the Suez Canal area, clashed with Egyptian demonstrators today. The pro-government newspaper Al Balagh said 10 Egyptians and two Britons were killed in the fighting.

Britain announced in London it was sending reinforcements to the troops in the canal area, as public excitement erupted in violent demonstrations in Cairo and elsewhere in Egypt over the Egyptian demand that the British get out of the Suez and the Sudan.

The British troops were called out at Ismailia on the west side of the Suez Canal, where crowds attempted to burn British equipment. Al Balagh said 80 Egyptians and one Briton were wounded in the ensuing fighting.

A British Army spokesman in Cairo said he could not confirm or deny the newspaper's casualty reports.

Another newspaper report said in a dispatch from Port Said that rioting broke out there. Port Said is on the northern end of the strategic Suez Canal, a vital link in the proposed chain of defenses the west is trying to build up against possible Communist aggression.

Within easy flying distance of the Suez is the 16th British Airborne Brigade on Cyprus. These troops could be sent along to Suez to reinforce the Suez garrison.

Offered Help Only

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today he telephoned the judge directing a grand jury inquiry into the St. Louis Internal Revenue collector's office, but only to offer assistance. Snyder issued a statement commenting on a story by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that he telephoned U. S. District Judge George H. Moore last March during the grand jury investigation of Internal Revenue Collector James P. Finnegan.

Removal Check Is Begun—Local Hearing Date Nov. 8

Protests from State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk on the New York Central railroad's removal of two trains from its West Shore schedule have brought results.

An investigation by the Public Service Commission began today, the Associated Press reported from Albany.

The West Shore line of the railroad lost Trains No. 6 (southbound) and No. 19 (northbound) as of Sept. 30. Both were early morning trains at Kingston.

The protest from Senator Wicks and Mayor Newkirk asked that the railroad keep the trains on schedule pending a public hearing at the court house on Nov. 8 at 10 a. m.

The railroad contends that the trains are "primarily express trains handling solid cars of express between Weehawken and Albany . . . and any passengers carried are purely incidental."

Most passengers were "locals" on the south end of the line, railroad officials said and they would be served by Trains 61 and 40 between Newburgh and Weehawken.

Work Ordered Stopped

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Because of reductions in the allotment of steel for shipbuilding, the government has ordered work stopped on 14 of 35 fast new "mariner class" cargo ships it had planned. The Maritime Administration had sought 183,000 tons of steel for ocean-going vessels in the first quarter of next year, later scaled its bid down to 135,000 tons, but the Defense Production Administration set aside only 100,000 tons.

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Sidney Solomon resigned today as treasurer of the Democratic National Committee.

U. S. Airmen Down Nine Red Jets in Korean Sky Fight

Infantry Meets Plenty of Sino Resistance on Two Fronts; Gains Made

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 16 (AP)—American airmen shot down nine Red jets and damaged five today while United Nations infantrymen smashed into stone walls of Chinese resistance on two Korean fronts.

Three UN divisions smacked into the main Chinese defense line about four miles from Kumsong, Red bastion on the central front. Americans also were stopped in another try at breaking through in the west, near Yonchon.

The air war raging over northwest Korea featured history's deadliest jet battle.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said eight Red MIG-15s were shot down and five damaged when 33 U. S. Sabre jets tackled more than 100 fast red-nosed planes. One Sabre was reported damaged.

Brief Battle Erupts

The brief battle erupted late in a day that saw a total of 217 jets in action.

For 15 minutes the Sabres swirled after the mass of Red jets in dog fights ranging from six miles in the sky down to tree-top level.

The ninth MIG was shot down in a small morning fight.

Ground action was just as fierce. Allied infantrymen scored gains on three sectors.

Americans and South Koreans drove a mile closer to Kumsong along a 22-mile front before hitting the solid Red defenses late Tuesday.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said the allies were engaged in "heavy fighting" all along the sector.

That halted four days of surprisingly easy gains that has carried the UN line more than six miles forward.

He reported the allied forces—the U. S. 24th Division and the Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth and Second Divisions—had apparently hit the Reds main defense line.

Bill Goes to Senate

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—The House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate a bill to provide increased federal aid to schools in critical defense areas. The House vote was 257 to 55. Local communities now may obtain federal aid if they can show a big boost in school population because of defense program activity. The bill would permit them to obtain help beforehand in anticipation of such an increase.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—The position of the treasury Oct. 12: Net budget receipts, $71,384,342.85; budget expenditures, $265,863,946.97; cash balance, $5,145,495,589.72; Customs receipts for month, $21,634,568.40; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $13,599,989,773.70; budget expenditures fiscal year, $17,387,969,825.91; budget deficit, $3,787,980,052.21; total debt, $257,048,354,457.72; increase over previous day, $2,684,671.36; gold assets, $22,094,187,510.30.

Burglars Enter Four Stores, Take Cash and Various Items

Woodstock Businesses Sustain Losses — Interiors Are Shambles

Woodstock, Oct. 16 — Burglars entered four village stores early today and took articles of men's clothing, sterling silver and at least $45 in cash. The four shops were ransacked and their interiors left in shambles.

Early-rising Woodstockers discovered the burglaries shortly before 8 a. m. today.

One of the first places where the burglaries were discovered was Stowell's on the Corner, a drug store. Its owner, L. B. Stowell, reported about $10 missing from the cash register. Also missing was the contents, amount unknown, of a Masonic Square Club fund raising jar.

The Woodstock Dairy office was found in shambles and its proprietor, William Hand, said about $25 was missing.

Textile Man Tells Of $10,000 Payoff

Boston Woolen President Was Promised Saving of $100,000

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—A textile jobber testified today he paid $10,000 to a New York insurance man who promised to save him $100,000 on taxes, and was endorsed as "okay" by Denis W. Delaney, then Boston collector of internal revenue.

Maxwell Shapiro, president of the Maxwell Shapiro Woolen Company of Boston, told the story to a House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The time of his account was 1949. Since then Delaney has been fired as the Boston collector and, a month ago, was indicted on charges of accepting $12,500 from taxpayers in trouble with his office.

Since the House investigation began, some Congress members have made demands that it be widened to look into what the Justice Department has been doing about irregularities in the tax collection system.

Visited by Finnegan

Shapiro related that on April 21, 1949, he was visited at his office by Hugh Finnegan, a brother of indicted St. Louis collector, James P. Finnegan, and Daniel Friedman, a New York insurance man.

At the time, Shapiro said, he had outstanding tax liabilities of approximately $142,000, of which

Housing Authority To Advertise Bids

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., head of the Kingston Housing Authority announced today that the Authority would advertise for bids Thursday for the local housing project to be built in the Flatbush avenue area.

Bids will be opened in the authority's office, city hall, on Nov. 27 for the 100-unit, low rental development which will be built under provisions of the State Housing Act at a cost to exceed $1,000,000.

Russians Charge Norway Broke 31-Year-Old Treaty

Moscow, Oct. 16 (AP)—Russia charged Norway last night with breaking a 31-year-old treaty by letting Atlantic Pact nations use Arctic islands of the strategic Spitzbergen archipelago for naval bases.

The protest note which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed to Norwegian Ambassador Carsten Helgeby also accused Norway of letting officers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) approach the Russian border on inspection trips.

The Norwegian government takes upon itself the responsibility for the results of such a policy," the note said. It warned that Russia could not remain "indifferent."

Russia repeated her previous charges that Norway, through her membership in the Atlantic alliance, was taking a hostile attitude towards the Soviet Union.

(In Oslo, Norway's foreign ministry rejected the protest note and Foreign Minister Halvard Lange denied that there ever had been "a question of building bases on Spitzbergen."

(Lange also declared that "the creation of a common command" in no way altered the purely defensive character of the Atlantic Pact.)

The note declared Norway violated the 1920 International Treaty demilitarizing the islands by letting NATO forces take control of Spitzbergen island and the long-disputed Bear (Medvezhi) island, which lies about 475 miles northwest of the Soviet port of Murmansk. Spitzbergen lies some 1,000 miles northwest of Murmansk.

Russia has special interests in this Polar area. Both she and Norway get coal from Spitzbergen. The 1920 treaty gave Spitzbergen to Norway and prohibited the use of the islands for "warlike purposes." On several occasions Russia has claimed that Bear island actually was a Russian island and assailed the validity of the treaty on that ground.

(Before Warld War 1 Spitbergen was a sort of no- man's land claimed by Russia, Norway and some other nations. The 1920 pact was signed by Britain, the United States, France, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, among others. Russia did not sign but subsequently adhered to the treaty, which became effective in 1925.)

Plumbers' Union Gives $250 to Fund

A gift of $250 from the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, Local 223 to the Benedictine Hospital $600,000 Building Fund campaign, has increased the total from clubs and organizations to $26,875, Allen Baker and Joe Epstein, division chairmen, announced today.

The gift from Local 223 was voted at a recent meeting of the organization, Isaac Lawrence, secretary and treasurer, reported.

The first general report meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the municipal auditorium. The total to date is $103,875 and the first general report meeting is expected to swell the total considerably.

All divisions are now in action as well as solicitation in 19 Ulster county towns. Several of the towns are holding memorials in the new wings in reservation and expect to reach their necessary total within the next week or 10 days.

Man Jailed as Ring Leader Of Group Planning 'Fix'

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Joseph Benintende, 42, was jailed on a bribery charge today as the leader of a ring allegedly ready to lay $50,000 bets on a single college basketball game.

He was seized last night as he stepped off a plane from Boston.

Benintende was indicted last Aug. 17 in connection with an alleged attempt to fix the 1950 National Collegiate Athletic Association championship game between City College of New Yark and Bradley University of Peoria, Ill. He had been sought since the indictment.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan then described Benintende as a Kansas City hoodlum, "an associate of known narcotics dealers and the worst of the Missouri underworld."

"He was investigated in connection with the Binaggio and Gargotta murders," Hogan added.

Charles Binaggio, a Kansas City Democratic leader, and his top muscleman, Charles Gargotta, were slain in Kansas City in April, 1950, by unidentified gunmen who never have been arrested.

Last August's indictment by a Manhattan grand jury accused Benintende of offering $10,000 to All-America Gene (Squeaky) Melchiorre of Bradley to lose the game with City College at Madison Square Garden.

Authorities said Melchiorre turned down the offer.

Melchiorre, two other Bradley players, Benintende and seven other asserted fixers were named in this indictment and five others charging various counts of bribery and conspiracy.

Four of the indictments dealt with a consolation National Invitation Tournament game between Bradley and Bowling Green College of Ohio at Madison Square Garden in March, 1949.

The other indictment concerned a Bradley-Manhattan College game of Jan. 12, 1950.

Last night's arrest was the latest action in a gambling scandal that hit college basketball last January.

Thirty-one players have been enmeshed so far from six big time college teams—Bradley, Toledo, City College of New York, Manhattan, Long Island University and New York University.

The assassination brought the Moslem world to the brink of a new crisis at a time the western powers are trying to shore up defenses there against the threats of communism. All Islam, from Morocco to Jakarta, is restive. Only this week, Egypt has voted to throw the British out of the Suez Canal zone, and to shun a defense alliance with the United States and other western powers. Iran and Iraq, with their oil riches, are other sore points.

Fifth Killed This Year

Liaquat was the fifth Moslem leader killed this year. He had been prime minister of Pakistan—first premier of the country formed in the splitting of India—since August 1947. He took over top leadership of the nation in September, 1948, upon the death of Mohammed Ali Jinnah, founder of the Moselm League and Pakistan's first governor-general.

Pakistan is one of the receipients of "point four" aid from the United States. Liaquat Ali visited President Truman in Washington last year.

Preliminary reports described the country as quiet following the assassination, but diplomats said cool judgment would be essential to keep the Indian subcontinent out of war.

The prime minister had arrived in Rawalpindi today for a six-day tour of the northwest frontier bordering on Kashmir.

Officials in neighboring India long have been aware that extremists in Pakistan have been trying to push the government into a more forceful Kashmir policy. Last March a group of alleged plotters, headed by the Pakistani army chief of staff, was arrested and charged with attempting to overthrow Liaquat and make war on Indian forces in Kashmir.

Is Wild Area

Rawalpindi is in an undisciplined frontier area which also is the scene of many movements of tribesmen for autonomy.

Kashmir, predominantly Moslem in population, acceded to Hindu India after the partition of the subcontinent, because it was ruled by a Hindu Maharajah at the time. Pakistan disputes India's claim and troops have been facing each other across a line of demarcation while the United Nations tried to settle the ominous quarrel.

The hard-working prime minister was a brilliant speaker and skilled debater who did much of the spade work that achieved the separation of Pakistan as a state

British, Egyptians Clash; 12 Killed

Britain Sends Troops to Reinforce Suez Canal Force

Cairo, Oct. 16 (AP) — British troops, called out to quell rioting in the Suez Canal area, clashed with Egyptian demonstrators today. The pro-government newspaper Al Balagh said 10 Egyptians and two Britons were killed in the fighting.

Britain announced in London it was sending reinforcements to the troops in the canal area, as public excitement erupted in violent demonstrations in Cairo and elsewhere in Egypt over the Egyptian demand that the British get out of the Suez and the Sudan.

The British troops were called out at Ismailia on the west side of the Suez Canal, where crowds attempted to burn British equipment. Al Balagh said 80 Egyptians and one Briton were wounded in the ensuing fighting.

A British Army spokesman in Cairo said he could not confirm or deny the newspaper's casualty reports.

Another newspaper report said in a dispatch from Port Said that rioting broke out there. Port Said is on the northern end of the strategic Suez Canal, a vital link in the proposed chain of defenses the west is trying to build up against possible Communist aggression.

Within easy flying distance of the Suez is the 16th British Airborne Brigade on Cyprus. These troops could be sent along to Suez to reinforce the Suez garrison.

Offered Help Only

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Snyder said today he telephoned the judge directing a grand jury inquiry into the St. Louis Internal Revenue collector's office, but only to offer assistance. Snyder issued a statement commenting on a story by the St. Louis Globe-Democrat that he telephoned U. S. District Judge George H. Moore last March during the grand jury investigation of Internal Revenue Collector James P. Finnegan.

Removal Check Is Begun—Local Hearing Date Nov. 8

Protests from State Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks and Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk on the New York Central railroad's removal of two trains from its West Shore schedule have brought results.

An investigation by the Public Service Commission began today, the Associated Press reported from Albany.

The West Shore line of the railroad lost Trains No. 6 (southbound) and No. 19 (northbound) as of Sept. 30. Both were early morning trains at Kingston.

The protest from Senator Wicks and Mayor Newkirk asked that the railroad keep the trains on schedule pending a public hearing at the court house on Nov. 8 at 10 a. m.

The railroad contends that the trains are "primarily express trains handling solid cars of express between Weehawken and Albany . . . and any passengers carried are purely incidental."

Most passengers were "locals" on the south end of the line, railroad officials said and they would be served by Trains 61 and 40 between Newburgh and Weehawken.

Work Ordered Stopped

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Because of reductions in the allotment of steel for shipbuilding, the government has ordered work stopped on 14 of 35 fast new "mariner class" cargo ships it had planned. The Maritime Administration had sought 183,000 tons of steel for ocean-going vessels in the first quarter of next year, later scaled its bid down to 135,000 tons, but the Defense Production Administration set aside only 100,000 tons.

U. S. Airmen Down Nine Red Jets in Korean Sky Fight

Infantry Meets Plenty of Sino Resistance on Two Fronts; Gains Made

U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 16 (AP)—American airmen shot down nine Red jets and damaged five today while United Nations infantrymen smashed into stone walls of Chinese resistance on two Korean fronts.

Three UN divisions smacked into the main Chinese defense line about four miles from Kumsong, Red bastion on the central front. Americans also were stopped in another try at breaking through in the west, near Yonchon.

The air war raging over northwest Korea featured history's deadliest jet battle.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said eight Red MIG-15s were shot down and five damaged when 33 U. S. Sabre jets tackled more than 100 fast red-nosed planes. One Sabre was reported damaged.

Brief Battle Erupts

The brief battle erupted late in a day that saw a total of 217 jets in action.

For 15 minutes the Sabres swirled after the mass of Red jets in dog fights ranging from six miles in the sky down to tree-top level.

The ninth MIG was shot down in a small morning fight.

Ground action was just as fierce. Allied infantrymen scored gains on three sectors.

Americans and South Koreans drove a mile closer to Kumsong along a 22-mile front before hitting the solid Red defenses late Tuesday.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said the allies were engaged in "heavy fighting" all along the sector.

That halted four days of surprisingly easy gains that has carried the UN line more than six miles forward.

He reported the allied forces—the U. S. 24th Division and the Republic of Korea (ROK) Sixth and Second Divisions—had apparently hit the Reds main defense line.

Bill Goes to Senate

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—The House passed yesterday and sent to the Senate a bill to provide increased federal aid to schools in critical defense areas. The House vote was 257 to 55. Local communities now may obtain federal aid if they can show a big boost in school population because of defense program activity. The bill would permit them to obtain help beforehand in anticipation of such an increase.

Burglars Enter Four Stores, Take Cash and Various Items

Textile Man Tells Of $10,000 Payoff

Boston Woolen President Was Promised Saving of $100,000

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—A textile jobber testified today he paid $10,000 to a New York insurance man who promised to save him $100,000 on taxes, and was endorsed as "okay" by Denis W. Delaney, then Boston collector of internal revenue.

Maxwell Shapiro, president of the Maxwell Shapiro Woolen Company of Boston, told the story to a House Ways and Means subcommittee investigating scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The time of his account was 1949. Since then Delaney has been fired as the Boston collector and, a month ago, was indicted on charges of accepting $12,500 from taxpayers in trouble with his office.

Since the House investigation began, some Congress members have made demands that it be widened to look into what the Justice Department has been doing about irregularities in the tax collection system.

Visited by Finnegan

Shapiro related that on April 21, 1949, he was visited at his office by Hugh Finnegan, a brother of indicted St. Louis collector, James P. Finnegan, and Daniel Friedman, a New York insurance man.

At the time, Shapiro said, he had outstanding tax liabilities of approximately $142,000, of which

Woodstock Businesses Sustain Losses — Interiors Are Shambles

Woodstock, Oct. 16 — Burglars entered four village stores early today and took articles of men's clothing, sterling silver and at least $45 in cash. The four shops were ransacked and their interiors left in shambles.

Early-rising Woodstockers discovered the burglaries shortly before 8 a. m. today.

One of the first places where the burglaries were discovered was Stowell's on the Corner, a drug store. Its owner, L. B. Stowell, reported about $10 missing from the cash register. Also missing was the contents, amount unknown, of a Masonic Square Club fund raising jar.

The Woodstock Dairy office was found in shambles and its proprietor, William Hand, said about $25 was missing.

Man Jailed as Ring Leader Of Group Planning 'Fix'

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Joseph Benintende, 42, was jailed on a bribery charge today as the leader of a ring allegedly ready to lay $50,000 bets on a single college basketball game.

He was seized last night as he stepped off a plane from Boston.

Benintende was indicted last Aug. 17 in connection with an alleged attempt to fix the 1950 National Collegiate Athletic Association championship game between City College of New Yark and Bradley University of Peoria, Ill. He had been sought since the indictment.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan then described Benintende as a Kansas City hoodlum, "an associate of known narcotics dealers and the worst of the Missouri underworld."

"He was investigated in connection with the Binaggio and Gargotta murders," Hogan added.

Charles Binaggio, a Kansas City Democratic leader, and his top muscleman, Charles Gargotta, were slain in Kansas City in April, 1950, by unidentified gunmen who never have been arrested.

Last August's indictment by a Manhattan grand jury accused Benintende of offering $10,000 to All-America Gene (Squeaky) Melchiorre of Bradley to lose the game with City College at Madison Square Garden.

Authorities said Melchiorre turned down the offer.

Melchiorre, two other Bradley players, Benintende and seven other asserted fixers were named in this indictment and five others charging various counts of bribery and conspiracy.

Four of the indictments dealt with a consolation National Invitation Tournament game between Bradley and Bowling Green College of Ohio at Madison Square Garden in March, 1949.

The other indictment concerned a Bradley-Manhattan College game of Jan. 12, 1950.

Last night's arrest was the latest action in a gambling scandal that hit college basketball last January.

Thirty-one players have been enmeshed so far from six big time college teams—Bradley, Toledo, City College of New York, Manhattan, Long Island Universiy and New York University.

Russians Charge Norway Broke 31-Year-Old Treaty

Moscow, Oct. 16 (AP)—Russia charged Norway last night with breaking a 31-year-old treaty by letting Atlantic Pact nations use Arctic islands of the strategic Spitzbergen archipelago for naval bases.

The protest note which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky handed to Norwegian Ambassador Carsten Helgeby also accused Norway of letting officers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) approach the Russian border on inspection trips.

The Norwegian government takes upon itself the responsibility for the results of such a policy," the note said. It warned that Russia could not remain "indifferent."

Russia repeated her previous charges that Norway, through her membership in the Atlantic alliance, was taking a hostile attitude towards the Soviet Union.

(In Oslo, Norway's foreign ministry rejected the protest note and Foreign Minister Halvard Lange denied that there ever had been "a question of building bases on Spitzbergen."

The note declared Norway violated the 1920 International Treaty demilitarizing the islands by letting NATO forces take control of Spitzbergen island and the long-disputed Bear (Medvezhi) island, which lies about 475 miles northwest of the Soviet port of Murmansk. Spitzbergen lies some 1,000 miles northwest of Murmansk.

Russia has special interests in this Polar area. Both she and Norway get coal from Spitzbergen. The 1920 treaty gave Spitzbergen to Norway and prohibited the use of the islands for "warlike purposes." On several occasions Russia has claimed that Bear island actually was a Russian island and assailed the validity of the treaty on that ground.

(Before Warld War 1 Spitbergen was a sort of no- man's land claimed by Russia, Norway and some other nations. The 1920 pact was signed by Britain, the United States, France, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, among others. Russia did not sign but subsequently adhered to the treaty, which became effective in 1925.)

Plumbers' Union Gives $250 to Fund

A gift of $250 from the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, Local 223 to the Benedictine Hospital $600,000 Building Fund campaign, has increased the total from clubs and organizations to $26,875, Allen Baker and Joe Epstein, division chairmen, announced today.

The gift from Local 223 was voted at a recent meeting of the organization, Isaac Lawrence, secretary and treasurer, reported.

The first general report meeting will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the municipal auditorium. The total to date is $103,875 and the first general report meeting is expected to swell the total considerably.

All divisions are now in action as well as solicitation in 19 Ulster county towns. Several of the towns are holding memorials in the new wings in reservation and expect to reach their necessary total within the next week or 10 days.

Suez and Sudan Trouble Areas

The Egyptian parliament voted Oct. 15 that the British must get out of the Suez Canal area and Sudan, and rejected the western power plan to make the Suez an international defense bastion. After more than half a century of joint Egypt-British rule, Egypt would absorb the Sudan (shaded) and add nearly a million square miles and 8 million people to Egyptian sovereignty. British trouble-shooter troops are standing by in Cyprus, Malta and Aden (underlined) as official sources in London said Britain would use force if necessary against any eviction efforts. Washington sources indicated the United States would support Britain if she decides to keep troops in the Suez Canal area.

Pakistan's Premier

in the 1947 partition of India.

He was born in East Punjab, the second son of a wealthy landowning family. He was fond of saying his family sprang from refugees, just like 6,000,000 other citizens of the Moslem state. His family came from Persia about 500 years ago and traces its descent from a famous Persian king, Nausherwan the Just. He was a lawyer.

It became Liaquat's lot to pilot the new state through its early formative years when one crisis followed another in its affairs with neighboring India.

In the bitter three-year old dispute over possession of Kashmir, Liaquat Ali told his people to be ready to face any emergency and warned them last August the Kashmir dispute might be settled by open warfare.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A moderate amount of selling pressure today sent the stock market down abruptly.

Losses among leading issues extended to between 1 and 2 points with only a few showing a drop past that extreme.

There were few plus signs of any amount, and these were concentrated in the utility group.

Steels, rails, and non-ferrous metals absorbed the brunt of the selling, but there was scarcely an area unmarked by the decline.

Today's downturn had as a background yesterday's inconclusive market movement which despite its mixed character nevertheless managed to squeeze ahead. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $101.50, a new 1951 high point.

At its present stage, the decline was pudged to be of normal character—a reaction from a sustained rise.

Stocks going lower included U. S. Steel, Nickel Plate, Chrysler, American Smelting, Texas Co., U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical, Paramount Pictures, General Electric, Pacific Mills, Boeing, National Distillers, and Radio Corp.

Curb stocks were lower. Humble Oil, which gained a total of 14⅛ Saturday and Monday, lost more than 2 points today in the wake of the company announcement of the plan to split the common two-for-one.

Other curb stocks declining included Jefferson Lake Sulphur, Kirby Petroleum, Molybdenum, New Mexico & Arizona Land, Rotary Electric Steel, U. S. Radiator, American Superpower, Arkansas Natural Gas "A," Calvan Consolidated Oil, Canada Southern Oils, Electric Bond & Share, Fansteel Metallurgical, and Giant Yellowknife Gold.

There was little activity in corporate bonds and prices were narrow. U. S. Government securities were steady in the over the counter market.

A turkey shoot sponsored by the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association at the Simpson Memorial Ski Slope on Sunday brought greater financial returns than any previous annual shoot sponsored by the group, a member reported today. About 150 persons attended the shoot, during which 62 birds were distributed. Proceeds in excess of $1,100, will be used in restocking streams and woods.

Plane Crash Probe Reveals No Trace

The possibility that an airplane crashed against Indian Head Mountain near Saugerties Sunday evening was apparently ruled out today.

State police at Kingston reported an intensive search by troopers, forest rangers and volunteers on Monday failed to disclose any wreckage. Pilots from Kingston, Catskill and Windham scanned the area over a 50-mile radius without success.

Meanwhile, further reports were received that give strength to the theory that the flaming object seen crashing against the mountain side was a meteorite.

A Lyonsville resident told Trooper Michael Lisman Monday afternoon that she had seen clearly a "falling star" go down among the mountains about the same time that Pilot James Farrell, en route to LaGuardia Field, reported by radio to Albany Airport that he had seen the object crash.

No airplanes have been reported missing in the area, a check by state police disclosed.

Driver of Vehicle In Fatal Crash Is Held for Larceny

The driver of a station wagon which figured in a fatal accident near Kerhonkson last month has been arrested on a first degree grand larceny charge.

Trooper Hayward Rasmussen reported from Ferndale this morning that William Bellemare, 47, no home, was arrested Monday afternoon by Cpl. John Regan of the Wurtsboro state police station on a warrant charging he was using his employer's vehicle without permission on Sept. 29. Bellemare was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Clifford Evans and, after waiving examination, was ordered held for grand jury action.

A state police report on September 29 listed Bellemare as the driver of the vehicle which left Route 209 a mile south of the center of the village of Kerhonkson and overturning. A passenger, Miss Caroline Louise Chadd (Durant), 51, of Spring Glen, was killed, troopers reported. Bellemare, who suffered internal injuries, was hospitalized at Ellenville from the time of the accident until his arrest.

The station wagon was owned by Salvatore Graffeo of 1179 Madison avenue, Brooklyn, proprietor of a hotel at Oak Ridge, where Bellemare was employed, Rasmussen reported.

Clean Bristle Brush While It's Still Soft

Any bristle brush can be readily cleaned, while it is still soft, with the proper thinner for the product in which it has been used. Use turpentine, followed by naphtha or mineral spirits for oil base finishes (paint, enamel or varnish). You will need alcohol for brushes used in shellac or acohol stain.

Lacquer thinner's the thing for lacquers — preferably a thinner made by the same manufacturer who produced the lacquer in which the brush was used.

Clean brushes which have been used in emulsions, calcimine and other water-thinner paints with water to which a little ammonia has been added.

Suez and Sudan Trouble Areas

The Egyptian parliament voted Oct. 15 that the British must get out of the Suez Canal area and Sudan, and rejected the western power plan to make the Suez an international defense bastion. After more than half a century of joint Egypt-British rule, Egypt would absorb the Sudan (shaded) and add nearly a million square miles and 8 million people to Egyptian sovereignty. British trouble-shooter troops are standing by in Cyprus, Malta and Aden (underlined) as official sources in London said Britain would use force if necessary against any eviction efforts. Washington sources indicated the United States would support Britain if she decides to keep troops in the Suez Canal area.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A moderate amount of selling pressure today sent the stock market down abruptly.

Losses among leading issues extended to between 1 and 2 points with only a few showing a drop past that extreme.

There were few plus signs of any amount, and these were concentrated in the utility group.

Steels, rails, and non-ferrous metals absorbed the brunt of the selling, but there was scarcely an area unmarked by the decline.

Today's downturn had as a background yesterday's inconclusive market movement which despite its mixed character nevertheless managed to squeeze ahead. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $101.50, a new 1951 high point.

At its present stage, the decline was pudged to be of normal character—a reaction from a sustained rise.

Stocks going lower included U. S. Steel, Nickel Plate, Chrysler, American Smelting, Texas Co., U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, International Nickel, American Cyanamid, Dow Chemical, Paramount Pictures, General Electric, Pacific Mills, Boeing, National Distillers, and Radio Corp.

Curb stocks were lower. Humble Oil, which gained a total of 14⅛ Saturday and Monday, lost more than 2 points today in the wake of the company announcement of the plan to split the common two-for-one.

Other curb stocks declining included Jefferson Lake Sulphur, Kirby Petroleum, Molybdenum, New Mexico & Arizona Land, Rotary Electric Steel, U. S. Radiator, American Superpower, Arkansas Natural Gas "A," Calvan Consolidated Oil, Canada Southern Oils, Electric Bond & Share, Fansteel Metallurgical, and Giant Yellowknife Gold.

There was little activity in corporate bonds and prices were narrow. U. S. Government securities were steady in the over the counter market.

Plane Crash Probe Reveals No Trace

The possibility that an airplane crashed against Indian Head Mountain near Saugerties Sunday evening was apparently ruled out today.

State police at Kingston reported an intensive search by troopers, forest rangers and volunteers on Monday failed to disclose any wreckage. Pilots from Kingston, Catskill and Windham scanned the area over a 50-mile radius without success.

Meanwhile, further reports were received that give strength to the theory that the flaming object seen crashing against the mountain side was a meteorite.

A Lyonsville resident told Trooper Michael Lisman Monday afternoon that she had seen clearly a "falling star" go down among the mountains about the same time that Pilot James Farrell, en route to LaGuardia Field, reported by radio to Albany Airport that he had seen the object crash.

No airplanes have been reported missing in the area, a check by state police disclosed.

Two Thousand Check Indiana City for Babe

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Two thousand volunteers combed Michigan City again today in their search for a missing baby, and the FBI hunted a practical nurse who left town about the time the infant disappeared.

Police continued giving lie detector tests to St. Anthony Hospital staff members who were on duty Saturday afternoon when week-old Lawrence James Lyons disappeared from his crib.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons, waited with waning hope that their pleas and rewards totaling more than $2,000 would bring their baby back to them alive and well.

Police were pessimistic about the missing nurse angle, but they asked the FBI to look for her.

The nurse, whose name was withheld, was fired Saturday by a Michigan City doctor. She left a note for her daughter that she had gone to Milwaukee.

Tennessee has an area of 42,246 square miles.

Children's Party Enjoyed at Elks'

Seventy youthful invited guests and 30 Elks mingled last evening at a dinner and party held by Kingston Lodge, 550, at its clubhouse on Fair street.

The occasion was the second project held by the lodge as a part of its youth program instituted by Exalted Ruler John J. Schwalbach.

Schwalbach thanked his youth activities committee of which Alderman-at-Large Joe Kelly is chairman, and also Superintendent Andrew J. Murphy 3rd of the Kingston Recreation Department and Assistant Superintendent Harry Edson, who were present and furnished movies for the youngsters.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, an Elk, complimented Exalted Ruler Schwalbach on his youth program and praised the youngsters for their fine behavior, rewarding each of them with a special gift.

The program started with a dinner at 6 p. m. prepared and served by the Elks' committee, and following the meal the movies were shown.

Guests were from the Kingston Boys Club and boys and girls from the Kingston Recreation Department, all of whom said they are awaiting another treat from the Elks.

Several weeks ago the youth committee sponsored a teen-age dance that drew approximately 450 high school students following the Kingston-Highland football game. Music was through the courtesy of Musicians' Local 215, American Federation of Musicians, which pays for such events out of its transcription fund.

Among Elks on the youth committee are County Judge John M. Cashin, the Rev. Stanley Dean, pastor of Holy Cross Church; Joseph Avis, Arthur Ewig, Walter Williams, County Attorney Fred Stang, Albert J. Melville, Herbert Van Dusen, Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, George Schneider, William F. Edelmuth, Dr. Harold Mandell, Louis Siller, Michael Provenzano, John J. Schwenk, Harry Rose and Sam Feldman.

Suit Is Filed

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Montgomery Ward has filed a $1,000,000 damage suit against the Railwagy Express Agency, Inc., and has asked federal court to force the agency to give it pickup and delivery service. The general merchandise house asserted in its suit yesterday that Railway Express had quit serving it, thus violating the Interstate Commerce Act and costing Montgomery Ward a $50,000 loss. Unless shipments soon are resumed, the complaint said, the loss will reach $1,000,0000 Montgomery Ward said the agency had failed to pick up $3,000,000 worth of seasonal merchandise prepared for shipment and had refused to deliver much merchandise to the mail order house.

Health Department Says Time Is Safe To Give Injections

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16 (AP)—The State Health Department said today it was safe—now that the polio season had passed—to give immunization "shots" against other diseases.

In June, the department advised doctors to discontinue the use of such "selective" shots during the polio season, saying persons seemed to be more susceptible to polio after having been innoculated against other diseases.

Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe said today that polio reached its peak in upstate New York during the week ended Aug. 25 "and has dropped consistently since that time."

"October 15 appears to be an appropriate date for terminating the period considered to be a hazard," he told physicians in a memo.

He cautioned, however, that in areas where polio continues to be prevalent that local health officers may recommend further postponement of immunization injections.

Two Thousand Check Indiana City for Babe

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 16 (AP)—Two thousand volunteers combed Michigan City again today in their search for a missing baby, and the FBI hunted a practical nurse who left town about the time the infant disappeared.

Police continued giving lie detector tests to St. Anthony Hospital staff members who were on duty Saturday afternoon when week-old Lawrence James Lyons disappeared from his crib.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons, waited with waning hope that their pleas and rewards totaling more than $2,000 would bring their baby back to them alive and well.

Police were pessimistic about the missing nurse angle, but they asked the FBI to look for her.

The nurse, whose name was withheld, was fired Saturday by a Michigan City doctor. She left a note for her daughter that she had gone to Milwaukee.

GOD AND NATIONS

A godless nation, like a godless man, must frequently know a lonely feeling. Godlessness is founded on a personal pride which precludes humility and is manifested in arrogance. A godless nation raises its children to aspire to earthly blessings, often on more than mere satisfaction of animal needs. It is not necessary to look far among the nations of the world to find those which answer this description. Governments and men filled with the idea of their own sufficiency threaten the peace of the world.

The nation which can kneel in humility before God is not immediately perfect. Countries are made up of men, and confusion and error sometimes obscure the paths over which men move. Hypocrisy is sometimes mistaken for piety and vocal self pity for prayer. But in the country that honors God there is at least an admission of its own imperfections and a comparison of its human failures with which the absolute goodness of the Divinity.

America has always been a nation which professed its belief in God. The first settlers knelt on the soil and thanked God before they plowed and planted. The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were drafted with the idea that the rights guaranteed to man issue from God. America is a land of many religions and forms of worship, existing side by side in mutual respect and toleration. People practicing their individual religions according to the dictates of conscience are part of a great spiritual strength, which will survive the challenge of those who reject the spiritual in favor of the material.

THRIFT—THE FARMER'S STRENGTH

America takes great pride in the fact that its farmers produce more food than any other group of food producers in the world. Sound farming practices, adequate machinery, fertile land, favorable weather, fair prices and, of course, hard work are some of the recognized reasons.

But let's not slide too quickly over that phrase—"sound farming practices," or management. One of the principal ingredients of sound farm management is thrift. Its persistent practice has contributed greatly to the progressive spirit of the American farmer. Fortunately for all of us the farmer's income over the past decade has been sufficient for him to practice thrift and to have accumulated substantial savings. These savings now give him the means to put new ideas for production into profitable practice. As a result, we all benefit and our national economy is strengthened.

Today the continued practice of thrift is more important than ever before in our history. It is a tremendous contribution to our economic might. The resultant savings gives us the means for higher production and for a stronger national economy. All Americans agree that a strong national economy is one of our most powerful weapons against the threat of communism.

One of the best ways of making thrift pay dividends is through purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds. America is now participating in its First Defense Bond Drive. We now have the opportunity to really show our fighting men that we civilians accept the responsibility that defense is our job, too. We can demonstrate our conviction by buying Defense Bonds regularly.

SPORTS TRUST-BUSTING

Anti-trust suits brought by the government may attract wide attention for a time, but seldom does the public eye stay on them through the long and tedious processes of trial. With the suit against professional football it may be different. It deals with something which, if the clamor may be taken at face value, the public wants to see, only not always enough to buy tickets.

The anti-trust suit against the National Football League, dealing with restrictions on radio and television coverage of games, is the first step, the prosecutors hope, in a series of action against organized sports. Baseball, with its reserve clause binding players, is already under the eye of Congress. What change all this may bring in organized sports is as unpredictable as the fans assume the outcome of a game to be.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE RIGHT OF REVOLUTION

Corliss Lamont once made the point:

"Can a democratic government logically permit totalitarian parties to advocate the violent overthrow of the state? I am convinced that the answer is 'yes' and that the right to advocate revolution is a basic constitutional liberty in a democracy."

If the right to advocate change is inherent in freedom, so is the right to oppose change. This truth, Communists and civil libertarians often choose to disregard. Yet, freedom is not a one-way street upon which only those who are in dissent may walk.

This Corliss Lamont acknowledges. He wrote:

"No doubt practically everyone here today would agree with me that there exists in the United States the necessary political machinery for peaceful and democratic change in either a conservative or a radical direction."

I think we can go further than that. For instance, there are those who are content with the American system of life. They have rights, too. I think that just as any man has the liberty to advocate vast and fundamental changes, so any American has the liberty to prevent such changes from coming into being. Just as anyone may criticize our form of government, and our economic system, and our social institutions, so any American has the liberty to fight the advocacy of such changes and to prevent them from being advocated at his expense, namely, by the use of taxpayers' money without the consent of the majority of the taxpayers. Those who object to school auditoriums being used to advocate the destruction of the system which erected the schools, have as many rights as those who insist that schools must be amoral institutions in which the fundamentals of our civilization may not be taught because they emanate from religion.

This comes down to the question of our schools and colleges. In the public schools, the public high schools and the public colleges, the ownership is vested in the people. Such institutions exist on the moneys of the taxpayers, who have the right to determine the nature and purpose and service of these institutions by a majority vote in a legislative body. The teachers, professors and administrators are employes whose nature of service, responsibilities, obligations and rights are determined by laws passed by legislatures and regulations issued by the designated officials. That is the essential contractual relationship.

Anyone has the option of accepting employment on the basis of the laws and regulations or not accepting employment. If the Legislature demands a loyalty oath, those who reject the loyalty oath have the privilege of resigning. It would seem by the logic of the situation that they have no other alternative.

In privately-owned schools and colleges, other factors enter into the picture except in such institutions as accept tax exemptions. If the Legislature makes it a condition of tax exemption that those who teach take an oath of loyalty, it would seem that there are these alternatives: Either to agree to the loyalty oath or to give up the tax exemption. Institutions which refuse to accept tax exemptions cannot be involved in the conditions which accompany such exemptions.

The fallacy of those who advocate revolution is that they refuse to respect the rights of those who oppose revolution. And in a country such as ours, those who oppose revolution have every right to set up legal barriers against revolutions. Acts of Congress and of state legislatures and decisions of the courts are legitimate steps to preserve the traditions and habits of the country.

The revolutionists have always taken the position that they have the right to stand on the barricades, to shoot for their version of liberty, but they reject the right of their opponents to shoot back. They insist upon their right to advocate overthrow, by peaceful means or by violent means, of the existent society but reject the right of the majority of the existent society to adopt peaceful or violent means to defend themselves. This position is utterly untenable.

Mr. Lamont says:

"But we could be wrong; and as democrats we cannot legitimately outlaw either legally or morally those who challenge our position on this issue."

Are we, on the supposition that we are wrong, which we may not be, and that Stalin is right, which he may not be, to permit Stalin to conquer our country either by war, by infiltration, by perversion or by corruption? Are we to give up without a fight because "we could be wrong"?

That Body of Yours

ACTH, THE WONDER DRUG

When Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, it was generally accepted as the specific or special treatment for diabetes; as long as insulin was injected regularly, the patient would continue to live. Insulin has never been called a cure, but as it prevents death from diabetes, nothing further is thought about it. However, since the discovery of insulin other uses for it have been found (increases appetite, causes shock in treatment of mental ailments), and more may continue to be found for many years to come.

Similarly with the discovery of ACTH, now known as ACTHAR. This extract or hormone of the adrenal glands was first known as the specific or special drug to cure or give great relief in the common form of rheumatism—rheumatoid arthritis. It not only gives relief from pain but prevents further damage to the ends of the bones forming a joint and also prevents damage to the tissues surrounding the joint. And just as with insulin, research workers are getting excellent results in the treatment of other ailments. In some stubborn cases of asthma and chronic ulcerative colitis, two very difficult diseases in which previous treatment gave no results, ACTH is giving complete relief with disappearance of symptoms. Another chronic disease which sometimes lasts a lifetime is tuberculosis of the skin, lupus. And still other research workers are reporting successful treatment of inflammation of the lining of the heart—endocarditis—by this wonder drug.

A summary of the wonderful results of use of this drug observed in a number of diseases is published in a book on ACTHAR, the Armour Laboratories brand of ACTH, in which it is stated that ACTHAR is not a specific or the special drug to treat any one disease (rheumatoid arthritis) as insulin is for diabetes or liver and liver extract for pernicious anemia, or digitalis for heart disease—ACTHAR stimulates the secretion of all the hormones of the adrenal glands and aims at all the cells and tissues of the body. It is thus likely that all the tissues of the body represent the target for the helpful action of ACTHAR.

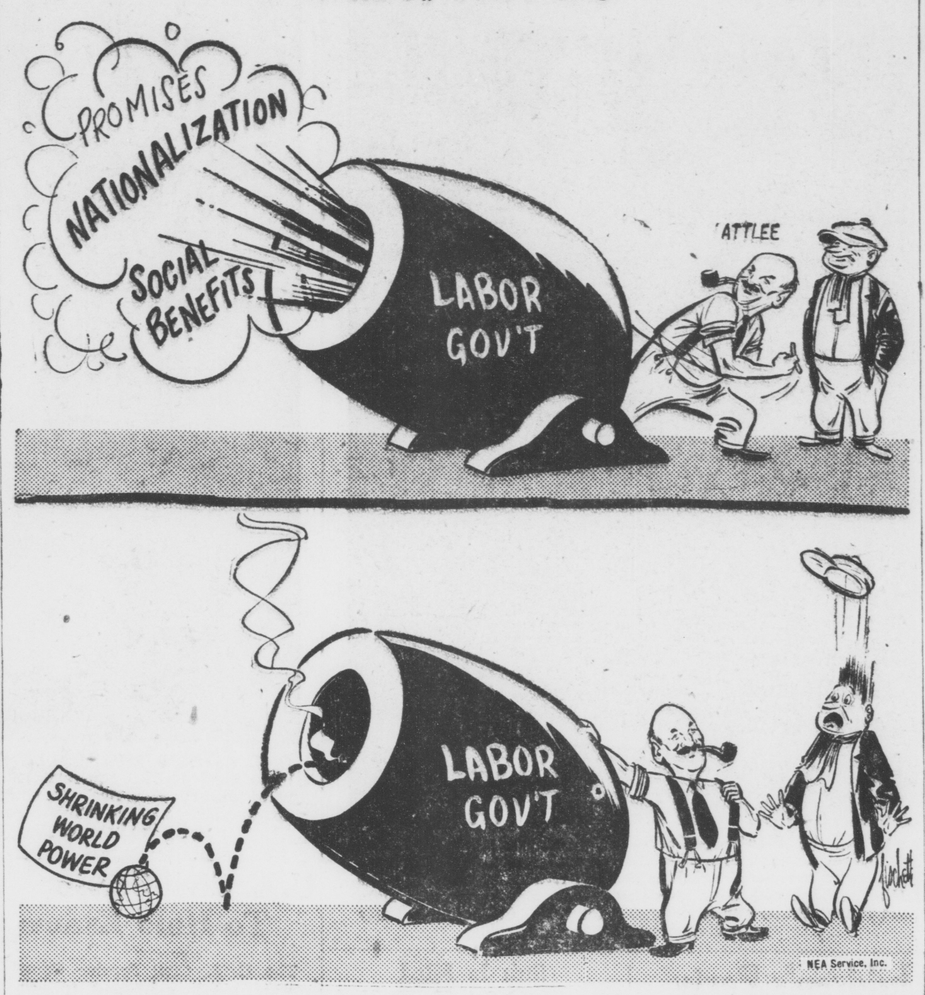

"This fact is agreed upon: the adrenal cortical hormones enable the cells and tissues of the body to withstand stress or injury of amost any origin, whether from outside the body such as injuries or burns, or from causes inside the body, such as emotional upheavals (delirium) due to acute inflammation."

Started Off With a Bang

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Ordinarily there is no filibustering at the Governors' Conference. However one was staged this time at a closed-door session by Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska.

Hitherto, the Governors' Conference has always unanimously adopted a resolution backing statehood for Alaska and Hawaii. The resolution has to be unanimous to pass the governors'; though when the resolutions committee OK's a resolution it usually passes automatically without objection. When the Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood platform came up in executive session this time, however, there was a chorus of "Ayes," followed by one lone "No."

The governors looked around to find that the dissenter was "Hummon" Talmadge of Georgia.

Asked for his reasons Gov. Talmadge, explained:

"My state will never consent to the admission of four new senators not pledged to oppose cloture."

What the Georgia governor had done was to express out loud the private reason why most southern senators recently have opposed Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood—the fear that four new senators might upset the South's ability, through cloture, to filibuster against civil rights.

Immediately Gov. Gruening jumped to his feet. It was near the end of a long meeting. The governors were anxious to get home.

"I should like to point out that the statehood resolution always has been adopted at previous governors' conferences," the Alaskan governor said. "The governor of Georgia has complained of federal abuses. But he has no idea the ordeal the people of Alaska and Hawaii suffer at the hands of the federal government. In effect we are minions of an absentee government.

"I have a great deal to say on this subject," continued Gov. Gruening, as his fellow governors got more restless. "In fact, I think I can speak for about four hours."

At this point Governor Driscoll of New Jersey quietly got up and whispered in Talmadge's ear. There were other whispered conferences. Finally the presiding officer announced: "I understand the governor of Georgia would like to change his vote, provided his views on the principle involved are recorded."

Talmadge assented. Governor Jimmie Byrnes then said that he would like to put South Carolina on record likewise.

This made it unanimous for Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood, and the conference adjourned.

Free Airplane Rides

Senator Owen Brewster, Maine Republican, almost tipped his hand the other day when Senator Paul Douglas, Illinois Democrat, introduced an amendment cutting off federal subsidies to any airline caught offering gifts to government employes.

"If entertainment or gratuities are offered by any airline to any governmental officer or employe, the subsidy will cease to be paid," Douglas explained his amendment.

Brewster, who has accepted various favors from Pan American Airways, impulsively jumped up.

"I wish the senator from Illinois would interpret the amendment. He refers to governmental officer or employe. I should like to be clear as to whether he includes members of Congress within the scope of the amendment," Brewster blurted.

"I myself would think so," replied Douglas.

Catching himself, Brewster hastily added: "There should be no doubt that the amendment would apply to members of Congress."

This is the same Brewster who used to fly home from Washington on week ends in a private Pan American plane. The plane would circle over his Dexter, Maine, home as a signal to his housekeeper, Mrs. Ellen Jenny Brown, to put dinner on. Sam Pryor, Pan American's vice president, frequently phoned in advance from his Washington office or his home in Greenwich, Conn., to say that Brewster was coming. On one occasion, Pryor flew to Dexter with Brewster, then the two flew to Moosehead Lake for five days of fishing. When Brewster's son, Charles, returned from overseas, a private Pan American plane flew him to Dexter.

The shocking thing is that all these free flights and favors were showered upon Brewster at the same time he was sponsoring special legislation to benefit Pan American. Since Pan American received heavy subsidies from the taxpayers, Brewster's free rides were indirectly paid by the taxpayers.

While explaining his amendment, Sen. Douglas suddenly realized the Maine senator's reputation as a friend of Pan American. For he hastened to explain: "I wish to make it clear that there is no personal implication on the part of the senator from Illinois with respect to anyone, either inside or outside of Congress."

However, there was no question that under Douglas' amendment, airlines could no longer give free flights to their friends in the Senate. The amendment was adopted by a weak voice vote, but with no one dissenting.

Day the Earth Stood Still

Shortly after the war, a British scientist told me that plans were under way to develop a space rocket capable of flying to the moon. I pooh-poohed the idea, thereby passing up a good story.

Last year however, American scientists and defense officials not only admitted that it was feasible to fly to the moon, but that the country which controlled the moon would control the earth, since it would be able to aim guided missiles back at the earth.

The problem of reaching the moon is basically that of getting rockets to fly fast enough to attain an "escape" speed—an escape speed being about 23,000 miles an hour—sufficient to escape from the pull of earth's gravity.

Another problem was to develop a rocket which could carry atomic power in one part of the ship and a human crew in the other part, yet protect the crew from radioactive rays.

The significant fact is that in recent months, a means has been developed to protect the crew from atomic radiation in the rocket. Simultaneously, 20th Century-Fox and Julian Blaustein have just put out a new picture "The Day the Earth Stood Still" which gives a fascinating account of what might happen in Washington, D. C., if a space ship arrived here from another planet. The efforts to preserve the peace when not mere countries, but planets are involved, as set forth in this picture, are worth considering.

Taft Announcement, Expected Today, Breaks Precedent in Political History

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 16—The political wisdom of Senator Taft in announcing formally his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency will be questioned by many experienced political observers. For it breaks a precedent in political history when a candidate announces himself as much as nine months before the actual convention, especially when he is in the lead anyway.

One thing it does is concentrate immediately the heavy artillery of opposition against him in his own party, and it starts the 1952 campaign much sooner than it normally would get under way.

There are no political advantages in an early announcement. It is true that the candidate who is out in front tends to draw "band wagon" strength—those delegates who have been on the fence and are likely to go with the crowd the moment they see the crowd all heading in the same direction. But as against this is the fact that no delegates are so easily lost, if the tide suddenly turns, as those with loosely held affiliations.

If the purpose of the early-announcement idea is to deflate the Eisenhower boom, the effort could easily misfire. Usually in fighting against a candidate, the best tactics are to begin building up a potential rival. With a Taft announcement, Eisenhower's friends will redouble their energies. Senator Taft's strategy in the present circumstances should have been to wait out the Eisenhower move. The friends of the general have been saying that around the first of the year he would be announcing his receptiveness to a Republican nomination. If such a statement were made, it would immediately present the issues of a contest that would overflow into the campaign itself, particularly if General Eisenhower were the nominee eventually.

Thus the things already said about the Eisenhower candidacy among the Taft supporters are indicative of what the Democrats themselves will be saying if the general is nominated. The point will be made that General Eisenhower, in his famous letter in 1948, said that a military man was not suited by training or qualifications to be president and that only in a grave emergency should a soldier accept a draft for the presidency.

This argument in its entirety would be turned against General Eisenhower. Opponents would agree not only that a military man is not suitable but that in an emergency it is even more dangerous to accept the leadership of a military man, because this would introduce the "man on horseback" psychology into government at a critical moment. With the record that already has been made by President Truman and his henchmen in the MacArthur case, where the false issue was raised that "civilian supremacy" versus military rule was at stake, it would be even easier for the Democrats to harp on that same issue if General Eisenhower were named. If the civilian process, they will say, is so devoid of quality that only in the military can leadership be found, then it is a reflection on the whole civilian process.

So far as union labor is concerned, it has been traditionally opposed to the military. This as a psychological attitude which has come as a result of labor disputes in which governors of various states in past history have ordered out the militia to restrain the violence of strikers. The mere thought of a man in uniform going into the White House is enough to send shivers of fear up and down the backs of labor leaders. So they would join eagerly in any administration crusade against Eisenhower based on the civilian-rule issue.

All in all, Senator Taft will not be beaten for the nomination by General Eisenhower if some of the politically minded in the Taft and anti-Taft factions have their way. For even among the backers of Eisenhower are some astute politicians who would quickly transfer their Eisenhower delegates to someone else if they saw an opportunity to defeat Taft and name a "dark horse." By maintaining silence almost to the time of the convention, General Eisenhower would be assisting the anti-Taft elements to maintain their organization. To take himself out of the race in January would give the Taft boom further impetus.

But when Senator Taft commits himself now, he permits an attack to be started against him from inside and outside his party which it is wholly unnecessary to generate, especially since his own campaign is making substantial progress anyway. It was not expected that the Ohio senator or his managers would make the blunder of an early announcement, because it's like sending a copy of your signals and your best plays to the other football team a month before the big game. But evidently the Taft managers have determined an early announcement is the best way to head off an Eisenhower boom, which could be the most dangerous form of attack so far as the nomination is concerned.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 15—Dr. Channing Tobias, who served on the President's Committee on Civil Rights, has a record of connections with flagrant Communist fronts exceeded by few other individuals in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Doctor Tobias, a colored man, is treasurer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. This is a left-wing political front, though not a Communist front. The false impression that it has a mandate from the colored population has been helpful to those who operate the NAACP for their own political ends. But the fact is that the Negroes of the United States never have authorized the NAACP to represent them. It may represent the political thought and legislative desires of some, but it certainly does not speak for all of the 13 million or more members of the colored race with their diversity of religious, political and other interests.

For example, many Negro citizens of the United States are Roman Catholics. There are numerous Catholic institutions for Negroes in Harlem and all over the country. But Doctor Channing Tobias was listed as an editorial advisor of the Protestant, a pro-Communist publication which maintained a violent anti-Catholic editorial policy. The Protestant carried his name as editorial advisor at several times from October, 1941, to September, 1946.

On Page 266 of the report of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Tobias is listed as a member of the National Citizens' Political Action Committee. The report says "it has been established by overwhelming evidence that the NCPAC is the major Communist front organization of the moment. It represents the Communist party's supreme bid for power. The genius of a Communist-front organization is to secure the services of distinguished persons whose very names aid in concealing the real nature of the organization."

On page 313, the report begins: "Channing Tobias was an endorser of the Communist front known as the All-Harlem Youth Conference. The conference supported all the policies and measures which were then advocated by the Communist Party and all its front organizations."

On page 340: Tobias is listed as a person "affiliated" with the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born. The text states that this committee was formed by the Communist Party to exploit racial divisions for its own revolutionary purposes. He was named specifically as a "sponsor" of a dinner under the auspices of this front.

On page 389: "The American League for Peace and Democracy was one of the most effective Communist fronts ever operated in America." The report said Tobias was a member of its executive board on page 405.

On page 651: The report said Tobias was affiliated with the Conference on Constitutional Liberties in America which "launched the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties," which is described as a Communist front.

"Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, of the National Committee of the Communist Party, was one of the featured speakers at the conference."

Page 1167: The report said Tobias was affiliated with the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax. The Committee on Un-American Activities took no position on the question whether the poll tax should be abolished. It is not a federal matter but a question which, by the Constitution, is left to the discretion of the states. It affects Negroes and white citizens impartially. The report says the committee to abolish the poll tax "has received financial aid from the Communist Party." There were bank records to prove it.

One of the most flagrant incidents in Tobias's long and consistent career was cited on page 1197. There the House Committee reported that the Daily Worker printed two photographs of Tobias in company with Earl Browder on the speakers' platform in Carnegie Hall at a meeting in honor of George Dimitroff, the active head of the Communist Innternational. Dimitroff was one of the Communists tried for setting fire to the German Reichstag. The Worker described Dimitroff as the "hero" of the Reichstag trial. Hitler released him to Moscow in trade for a Nazi held by the Russians. In this oc-

GOD AND NATIONS

A godless nation, like a godless man, must frequently know a lonely feeling. Godlessness is founded on a personal pride which precludes humility and is manifested in arrogance. A godless nation raises its children to aspire to earthly blessings, often on more than mere satisfaction of animal needs. It is not necessary to look far among the nations of the world to find those which answer this description. Governments and men filled with the idea of their own sufficiency threaten the peace of the world.

The nation which can kneel in humility before God is not immediately perfect. Countries are made up of men, and confusion and error sometimes obscure the paths over which men move. Hypocrisy is sometimes mistaken for piety and vocal self pity for prayer. But in the country that honors God there is at least an admission of its own imperfections and a comparison of its human failures with which the absolute goodness of the Divinity.

America has always been a nation which professed its belief in God. The first settlers knelt on the soil and thanked God before they plowed and planted. The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution were drafted with the idea that the rights guaranteed to man issue from God. America is a land of many religions and forms of worship, existing side by side in mutual respect and toleration. People practicing their individual religions according to the dictates of conscience are part of a great spiritual strength, which will survive the challenge of those who reject the spiritual in favor of the material.

THRIFT—THE FARMER'S STRENGTH

America takes great pride in the fact that its farmers produce more food than any other group of food producers in the world. Sound farming practices, adequate machinery, fertile land, favorable weather, fair prices and, of course, hard work are some of the recognized reasons.

But let's not slide too quickly over that phrase—"sound farming practices," or management. One of the principal ingredients of sound farm management is thrift. Its persistent practice has contributed greatly to the progressive spirit of the American farmer. Fortunately for all of us the farmer's income over the past decade has been sufficient for him to practice thrift and to have accumulated substantial savings. These savings now give him the means to put new ideas for production into profitable practice. As a result, we all benefit and our national economy is strengthened.

Today the continued practice of thrift is more important than ever before in our history. It is a tremendous contribution to our economic might. The resultant savings gives us the means for higher production and for a stronger national economy. All Americans agree that a strong national economy is one of our most powerful weapons against the threat of communism.

One of the best ways of making thrift pay dividends is through purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds. America is now participating in its First Defense Bond Drive. We now have the opportunity to really show our fighting men that we civilians accept the responsibility that defense is our job, too. We can demonstrate our conviction by buying Defense Bonds regularly.

SPORTS TRUST-BUSTING

Anti-trust suits brought by the government may attract wide attention for a time, but seldom does the public eye stay on them through the long and tedious processes of trial. With the suit against professional football it may be different. It deals with something which, if the clamor may be taken at face value, the public wants to see, only not always enough to buy tickets.

The anti-trust suit against the National Football League, dealing with restrictions on radio and television coverage of games, is the first step, the prosecutors hope, in a series of action against organized sports. Baseball, with its reserve clause binding players, is already under the eye of Congress. What change all this may bring in organized sports is as unpredictable as the fans assume the outcome of a game to be.

THE RIGHT OF REVOLUTION

Corliss Lamont once made the point:

"Can a democratic government logically permit totalitarian parties to advocate the violent overthrow of the state? I am convinced that the answer is 'yes' and that the right to advocate revolution is a basic constitutional liberty in a democracy."

If the right to advocate change is inherent in freedom, so is the right to oppose change. This truth, Communists and civil libertarians often choose to disregard. Yet, freedom is not a one-way street upon which only those who are in dissent may walk.

This Corliss Lamont acknowledges. He wrote:

"No doubt practically everyone here today would agree with me that there exists in the United States the necessary political machinery for peaceful and democratic change in either a conservative or a radical direction."

I think we can go further than that. For instance, there are those who are content with the American system of life. They have rights, too. I think that just as any man has the liberty to advocate vast and fundamental changes, so any American has the liberty to prevent such changes from coming into being. Just as anyone may criticize our form of government, and our economic system, and our social institutions, so any American has the liberty to fight the advocacy of such changes and to prevent them from being advocated at his expense, namely, by the use of taxpayers' money without the consent of the majority of the taxpayers. Those who object to school auditoriums being used to advocate the destruction of the system which erected the schools, have as many rights as those who insist that schools must be amoral institutions in which the fundamentals of our civilization may not be taught because they emanate from religion.

This comes down to the question of our schools and colleges. In the public schools, the public high schools and the public colleges, the ownership is vested in the people. Such institutions exist on the moneys of the taxpayers, who have the right to determine the nature and purpose and service of these institutions by a majority vote in a legislative body. The teachers, professors and administrators are employes whose nature of service, responsibilities, obligations and rights are determined by laws passed by legislatures and regulations issued by the designated officials. That is the essential contractual relationship.

Anyone has the option of accepting employment on the basis of the laws and regulations or not accepting employment. If the Legislature demands a loyalty oath, those who reject the loyalty oath have the privilege of resigning. It would seem by the logic of the situation that they have no other alternative.

In privately-owned schools and colleges, other factors enter into the picture except in such institutions as accept tax exemptions. If the Legislature makes it a condition of tax exemption that those who teach take an oath of loyalty, it would seem that there are these alternatives: Either to agree to the loyalty oath or to give up the tax exemption. Institutions which refuse to accept tax exemptions cannot be involved in the conditions which accompany such exemptions.

The fallacy of those who advocate revolution is that they refuse to respect the rights of those who oppose revolution. And in a country such as ours, those who oppose revolution have every right to set up legal barriers against revolutions. Acts of Congress and of state legislatures and decisions of the courts are legitimate steps to preserve the traditions and habits of the country.

The revolutionists have always taken the position that they have the right to stand on the barricades, to shoot for their version of liberty, but they reject the right of their opponents to shoot back. They insist upon their right to advocate overthrow, by peaceful means or by violent means, of the existent society but reject the right of the majority of the existent society to adopt peaceful or violent means to defend themselves. This position is utterly untenable.

Mr. Lamont says:

"But we could be wrong; and as democrats we cannot legitimately outlaw either legally or morally those who challenge our position on this issue."

Are we, on the supposition that we are wrong, which we may not be, and that Stalin is right, which he may not be, to permit Stalin to conquer our country either by war, by infiltration, by perversion or by corruption? Are we to give up without a fight because "we could be wrong"?

ACTH, THE WONDER DRUG

When Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, it was generally accepted as the specific or special treatment for diabetes; as long as insulin was injected regularly, the patient would continue to live. Insulin has never been called a cure, but as it prevents death from diabetes, nothing further is thought about it. However, since the discovery of insulin other uses for it have been found (increases appetite, causes shock in treatment of mental ailments), and more may continue to be found for many years to come.

Similarly with the discovery of ACTH, now known as ACTHAR. This extract or hormone of the adrenal glands was first known as the specific or special drug to cure or give great relief in the common form of rheumatism—rheumatoid arthritis. It not only gives relief from pain but prevents further damage to the ends of the bones forming a joint and also prevents damage to the tissues surrounding the joint. And just as with insulin, research workers are getting excellent results in the treatment of other ailments. In some stubborn cases of asthma and chronic ulcerative colitis, two very difficult diseases in which previous treatment gave no results, ACTH is giving complete relief with disappearance of symptoms. Another chronic disease which sometimes lasts a lifetime is tuberculosis of the skin, lupus. And still other research workers are reporting successful treatment of inflammation of the lining of the heart—endocarditis—by this wonder drug.

A summary of the wonderful results of use of this drug observed in a number of diseases is published in a book on ACTHAR, the Armour Laboratories brand of ACTH, in which it is stated that ACTHAR is not a specific or the special drug to treat any one disease (rheumatoid arthritis) as insulin is for diabetes or liver and liver extract for pernicious anemia, or digitalis for heart disease—ACTHAR stimulates the secretion of all the hormones of the adrenal glands and aims at all the cells and tissues of the body. It is thus likely that all the tissues of the body represent the target for the helpful action of ACTHAR.

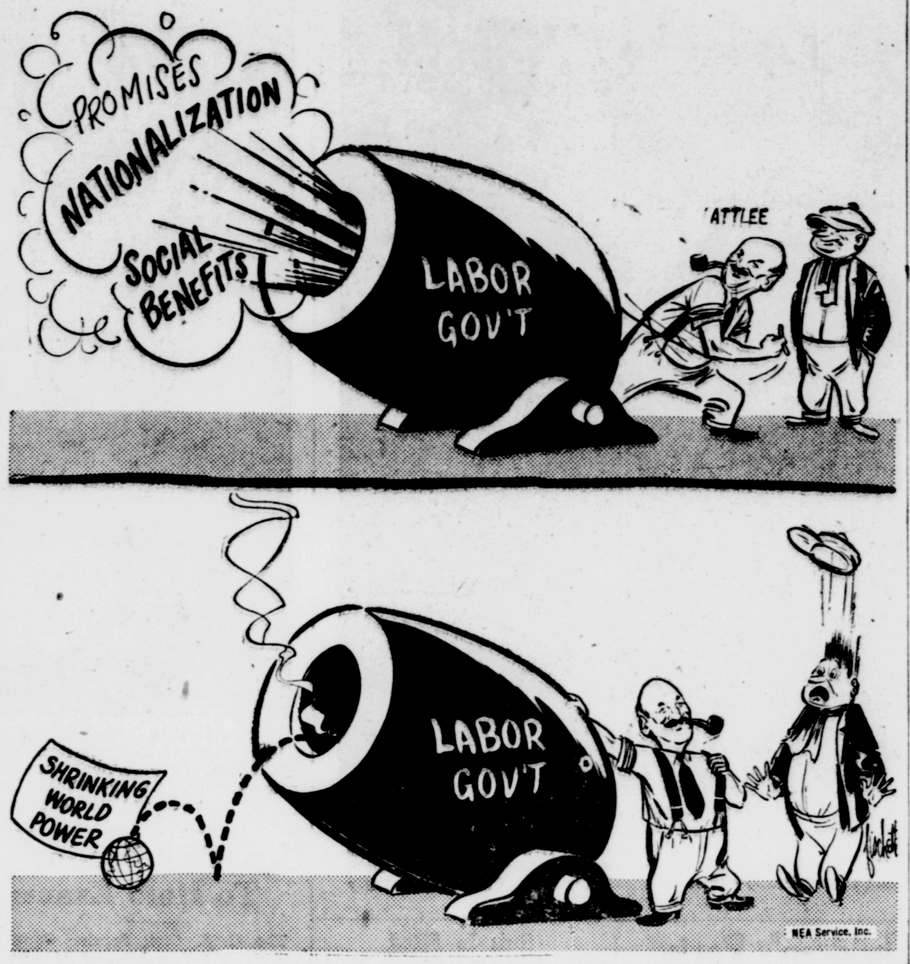

"This fact is agreed upon: the adrenal cortical hormones enable the cells and tissues of the body to withstand stress or injury of amost any origin, whether from outside the body such as injuries or burns, or from causes inside the body, such as emotional upheavals (delirium) due to acute inflammation."

Started Off With a Bang

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Ordinarily there is no filibustering at the Governors' Conference. However one was staged this time at a closed-door session by Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska.

Hitherto, the Governors' Conference has always unanimously adopted a resolution backing statehood for Alaska and Hawaii. The resolution has to be unanimous to pass the governors'; though when the resolutions committee OK's a resolution it usually passes automatically without objection. When the Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood platform came up in executive session this time, however, there was a chorus of "Ayes," followed by one lone "No."

The governors looked around to find that the dissenter was "Hummon" Talmadge of Georgia.

Asked for his reasons Gov. Talmadge, explained:

"My state will never consent to the admission of four new senators not pledged to oppose cloture."

What the Georgia governor had done was to express out loud the private reason why most southern senators recently have opposed Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood—the fear that four new senators might upset the South's ability, through cloture, to filibuster against civil rights.

Immediately Gov. Gruening jumped to his feet. It was near the end of a long meeting. The governors were anxious to get home.

"I should like to point out that the statehood resolution always has been adopted at previous governors' conferences," the Alaskan governor said. "The governor of Georgia has complained of federal abuses. But he has no idea the ordeal the people of Alaska and Hawaii suffer at the hands of the federal government. In effect we are minions of an absentee government.

"I have a great deal to say on this subject," continued Gov. Gruening, as his fellow governors got more restless. "In fact, I think I can speak for about four hours."

At this point Governor Driscoll of New Jersey quietly got up and whispered in Talmadge's ear. There were other whispered conferences. Finally the presiding officer announced: "I understand the governor of Georgia would like to change his vote, provided his views on the principle involved are recorded."

Talmadge assented. Governor Jimmie Byrnes then said that he would like to put South Carolina on record likewise.

This made it unanimous for Alaskan-Hawaiian statehood, and the conference adjourned.

Free Airplane Rides

Senator Owen Brewster, Maine Republican, almost tipped his hand the other day when Senator Paul Douglas, Illinois Democrat, introduced an amendment cutting off federal subsidies to any airline caught offering gifts to government employes.

"If entertainment or gratuities are offered by any airline to any governmental officer or employe, the subsidy will cease to be paid," Douglas explained his amendment.

Brewster, who has accepted various favors from Pan American Airways, impulsively jumped up.

"I wish the senator from Illinois would interpret the amendment. He refers to governmental officer or employe. I should like to be clear as to whether he includes members of Congress within the scope of the amendment," Brewster blurted.

"I myself would think so," replied Douglas.

Catching himself, Brewster hastily added: "There should be no doubt that the amendment would apply to members of Congress."

This is the same Brewster who used to fly home from Washington on week ends in a private Pan American plane. The plane would circle over his Dexter, Maine, home as a signal to his housekeeper, Mrs. Ellen Jenny Brown, to put dinner on. Sam Pryor, Pan American's vice president, frequently phoned in advance from his Washington office or his home in Greenwich, Conn., to say that Brewster was coming. On one occasion, Pryor flew to Dexter with Brewster, then the two flew to Moosehead Lake for five days of fishing. When Brewster's son, Charles, returned from overseas, a private Pan American plane flew him to Dexter.

The shocking thing is that all these free flights and favors were showered upon Brewster at the same time he was sponsoring special legislation to benefit Pan American. Since Pan American received heavy subsidies from the taxpayers, Brewster's free rides were indirectly paid by the taxpayers.

While explaining his amendment, Sen. Douglas suddenly realized the Maine senator's reputation as a friend of Pan American. For he hastened to explain: "I wish to make it clear that there is no personal implication on the part of the senator from Illinois with respect to anyone, either inside or outside of Congress."

However, there was no question that under Douglas' amendment, airlines could no longer give free flights to their friends in the Senate. The amendment was adopted by a weak voice vote, but with no one dissenting.

To take himself out of the race in January would give the Taft boom further impetus.

But when Senator Taft commits himself now, he permits an attack to be started against him from inside and outside his party which it is wholly unnecessary to generate, especially since his own campaign is making substantial progress anyway. It was not expected that the Ohio senator or his managers would make the blunder of an early announcement, because it's like sending a copy of your signals and your best plays to the other football team a month before the big game. But evidently the Taft managers have determined an early announcement is the best way to head off an Eisenhower boom, which could be the most dangerous form of attack so far as the nomination is concerned.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 15—Dr. Channing Tobias, who served on the President's Committee on Civil Rights, has a record of connections with flagrant Communist fronts exceeded by few other individuals in the files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Doctor Tobias, a colored man, is treasurer of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. This is a left-wing political front, though not a Communist front. The false impression that it has a mandate from the colored population has been helpful to those who operate the NAACP for their own political ends. But the fact is that the Negroes of the United States never have authorized the NAACP to represent them. It may represent the political thought and legislative desires of some, but it certainly does not speak for all of the 13 million or more members of the colored race with their diversity of religious, political and other interests.

For example, many Negro citizens of the United States are Roman Catholics. There are numerous Catholic institutions for Negroes in Harlem and all over the country. But Doctor Channing Tobias was listed as an editorial advisor of the Protestant, a pro-Communist publication which maintained a violent anti-Catholic editorial policy. The Protestant carried his name as editorial advisor at several times from October, 1941, to September, 1946.

On Page 266 of the report of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Tobias is listed as a member of the National Citizens' Political Action Committee. The report says "it has been established by overwhelming evidence that the NCPAC is the major Communist front organization of the moment. It represents the Communist party's supreme bid for power. The genius of a Communist-front organization is to secure the services of distinguished persons whose very names aid in concealing the real nature of the organization."

On page 313, the report begins: "Channing Tobias was an endorser of the Communist front known as the All-Harlem Youth Conference. The conference supported all the policies and measures which were then advocated by the Communist Party and all its front organizations."

On page 340: Tobias is listed as a person "affiliated" with the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born. The text states that this committee was formed by the Communist Party to exploit racial divisions for its own revolutionary purposes. He was named specifically as a "sponsor" of a dinner under the auspices of this front.

On page 389: "The American League for Peace and Democracy was one of the most effective Communist fronts ever operated in America." The report said Tobias was a member of its executive board on page 405.

On page 651: The report said Tobias was affiliated with the Conference on Constitutional Liberties in America which "launched the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties," which is described as a Communist front.

"Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, of the National Committee of the Communist Party, was one of the featured speakers at the conference."

Page 1167: The report said Tobias was affiliated with the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax. The Committee on Un-American Activities took no position on the question whether the poll tax should be abolished. It is not a federal matter but a question which, by the Constitution, is left to the discretion of the states. It affects Negroes and white citizens impartially. The report says the committee to abolish the poll tax "has received financial aid from the Communist Party." There were bank records to prove it.

One of the most flagrant incidents in Tobias's long and consistent career was cited on page 1197. There the House Committee reported that the Daily Worker printed two photographs of Tobias in company with Earl Browder on the speakers' platform in Carnegie Hall at a meeting in honor of George Dimitroff, the active head of the Communist Innternational. Dimitroff was one of the Communists tried for setting fire to the German Reichstag. The Worker described Dimitroff as the "hero" of the Reichstag trial. Hitler released him to Moscow in trade for a Nazi held by the Russians. In this oc-

So They Say...

The U. S. is relying on guns and dollars rather than ideas. . . . What Asia needs is sympathy, understanding, an attitude of cooperation in the things they are trying to do.
—William O. Douglas, Supreme Court justice.

I can't see any justification for paying farmers for doing something they would normally do. Farming should be a respectable business with a respectable income for anyone who wants to work for it.

Questions — Answers

Q—Is coal forming in the United States at the present time?

A—Yes, in the Dismal Swamp, the Everglades, and a few similar places.

Q—What river did George Washington throw the dollar across?

A—Parson Weems, in his biography of Washington, said he often saw him throwing stones across the Rappahannock. This was later changed by jokesmiths to throwing across the Potomac (an impossible feat) "because the dollar went farther in those days."

Planting Evergreens; Beautify Your Gardens for Celebration

In cooperation with the Home Beautification Committee of the 300th Anniversary of the Founding of Kingston, which will be celebrated next year, The Freeman is publishing a series of articles on Fall planting. The committee is making a special effort to have a greater display of flowers and shrubs next year by all local residents because of the additional thousands of visitors who will be here for the observance.

Today's articles on the right way to plant burlapped evergreens is written by Henry Pree for NEA Service:

Autumn planting is under way with evergreens and spring blooming perennials leading the way. The roadside stands are filled with excellent looking balled and burlapped specimen evergreens which soon will find a permanent home, and a long life, if the plantsman follows a few common sense rules.

Balled and burlapped plants should be lifted by the ball and not by the trunk and branches. The nurseryman has taken great pains to dig the plant with as little as possible injury to the roots.

When planted, balled and burlapped plants should be placed in a well-prepared hole with the burlap intact. It is not necessary to remove the burlap, just slit it at the top after the ball is set in place. Be sure to dig the hole twice or three times as wide as the ball, thus allowing for plenty of good soil under and around the plant.

Fill the bottom first with a mixture of good soil and a complete plant food.

Set the plant only as deep as it originally grew; a little higher would be better to allow for settlement. You cannot go wrong by following this advice with all trees and shrubs.

Just as soon as the first frost has hit the nurseries the digging of bare-root deciduous shrubs and small trees will get under way.

In transporting, do not allow these plants to go uncovered and if there is a delay in planting, heel them in the ground somewhere and water them well until you are ready to put them in their proper places.

Plan your shrub and tree planting to add a combination of pleasing foliage, flowers, such as roses and berries ad fruits from spring through autumn, with thoughtful use of evergreens for contrast the year around.

Best results are obtained by consulting a local nurseryman who can and will advise you what plants to use and where.

The cold war being waged by the Crusade for Freedom will help prevent a hot war.

Planning Can Help Win Bridge Games

My friend B. J. Becker is, in my opinion, the most careful bridge player in the world. He combines great skill and shrewdness with his carefulness, and the combination is quite formidable. Since he will be playing in the Metropolitan Tournament in New York the last week-end of Ocotber, I can warn you right now. If you play against Becker, don't count on him to make too many careless mistakes.

Becker played the South cards of the hand shown today. It's quite an exercise in forethought and sheer technique.

West opened the ten of hearts, and Becker naturally took the finesse. It lost to East's king, and the heart return took out dummy's ace.

Declarer now had his first chance to make a careless mistake. A hasty player might lead the king of spades to draw the first round of trump and then West would be sure of a trump trick.

Becker began the trumps by leading low to his ace. Only a 4-0 split was a threat. If East had four trumps, nothing could be done about it. If West had four trumps it was vital to keep both of dummy's honors to kill West's honors.

After taking the ace of trumps, Becker cashed the ace of clubs. Next he led the deuce of trumps.

West put up the ten, and dummy won with the queen. Now dummy was in position to return a low club for a ruff. And Becker carefully ruffed with the eight of spades.

Declarer next led a diamond to dummy's king and returned another low club. Continuing his plan, he ruffed with the nine of spades.

This left Becker in position to lead the four of spades through West. No matter what West played, dummy could win a finesse and draw the last trump. If South had carelessly ruffed a club with a low trump, he would have the eight or nine left at this point, and would win the third round of trumps in his own hand instead of in dummy.

After drawing trumps, Becker could cash the king of clubs and the established jack of clubs. The twelfth trick for a well-earned slam.

C of C Cites Gas Station Operators For Vital Roles

Service station operators play a key role in the community life of Kingston, the Chamber of Commerce declared today in a statement observing Oil Progress Week. Acknowledging their public service to the community, the chamber said that "our service station dealers serve as our unofficial public representatives to the country at large."

"Our service station dealers," the statement said, "are more than corner merchants providing a customary service. They are, in a real sense, unofficial ambassadors of good-will for the community. A service station dealer is very often the first local man most out-of-town visitors meet, and he's only one many people passing through town ever see. He is the person by whom these people form their first judgments of our town, and thanks to him, these impressions are usually good.

"Our-of-town visitors look to a service station dealer for information on local stores, hotels, amusements, and services. His recommendations send a steady stream of customers to our business and amusement establishments. By his hard work, his integrity, and above all, the cheerful way he constantly renders service, he has won the respect of all who know him, and the confidence of these who meet him for the first time.

"Service station dealers provide a vital service to our community. The importance of their job is emphasized by the fact that next to food, clothing and shelter, transportation ranks at the top of the daily requirements of the average American family. They deserve full credit for the vital role they play in our life."

Service station operators are being honored by the oil industry during the celebration of Oil Progress Week, October 14-20. Special advertisements and posters will call attention to their important function in serving the nation.

C of C Cites Gas Station Operators For Vital Roles

Service station operators play a key role in the community life of Kingston, the Chamber of Commerce declared today in a statement observing Oil Progress Week. Acknowledging their public service to the community, the chamber said that "our service station dealers serve as our unofficial public representatives to the country at large."

"Our service station dealers," the statement said, "are more than corner merchants providing a customary service. They are, in a real sense, unofficial ambassadors of good-will for the community. A service station dealer is very often the first local man most out-of-town visitors meet, and he's only one many people passing through town ever see. He is the person by whom these people form their first judgments of our town, and thanks to him, these impressions are usually good.

"Our-of-town visitors look to a service station dealer for information on local stores, hotels, amusements, and services. His recommendations send a steady stream of customers to our business and amusement establishments. By his hard work, his integrity, and above all, the cheerful way he constantly renders service, he has won the respect of all who know him, and the confidence of these who meet him for the first time.

Art Gallery Gets Wardwell Gift

Woodstock, Oct. 16—At a board meeting of the Artists Realty Company, owners of the Woodstock Art Gallery, Albert Heckman announced the gift of a large amount of shares to the company by Miss Alice W. Wardwell. This is the largest donation of its kind ever received by the company.

When sold, the money from these shares will be known as The Wardwell Foundation, and will for many years substantially reduce the annual rent of the Woodstock Artists Association. Thus the benefit from this splendid gift will be equally shared by all members of this important organization as well as by the Woodstock Artists Realty Company.

Norbert Heermann, president, then announced that the Artists Association will sponsor a print workshop next summer in the lower floor of the art gallery, now occupied by the Catskill Book and Record Shop. There will be a printing press to be used by a class of students under the direction of Margaret Lowengrund. In addition there will be exhibitions of prints, lectures by famous printers and those in allied fields, promising a fascinating new department in Woodstock's lively art activities.

The group entertained two guests for the evening, Mrs. Robert Compitello, unit sponsor of the Overlook Unit and Mrs. Albert Montgomery, chairman of the day unit of the Woodstock Home Bureau.

Brokenshaw Fireplace

Woodstock, Oct. 16 — Louise Brokenshaw, ceramic artist, has recently completed and set in place 57 tiles for the fireplace in the home of Mrs. George W. Pratt in Shokan. Taking her inspiration from the old tiles created by the Dutch settlers in the Hudson valley, such as those in the Senate House in Kingston, Mrs. Brokensaw has used bird and flower motifs against backgrounds of two shades of light blue. The tiles were set in the fireplace with the assistance of Brock Brokenshaw.

Local Artists Are In New York Show

Woodstock, Oct. 16—The exhibition of American paintings, sculpture and ceramics by the Ganso Gallery group, which includes a number of Woodstock's well-known artists, will open at the New York gallery, 125 East 57th street, Oct. 29. Woodstock artists represented in the show are Edward Chavez, Herman Cherry, Bruce Curry, Ethel Magafan, Jenne Magafan, Howard Mandel, William Pachner, Alex Redein, Tomas Penning and Carl Walters.

According to a review by Carlyle Burrows in the Sunday art section of the New York Herald Tribune, "The Ganso gallery boasts of five artists who in the last awards of Fulbright fellowship grants for foreign travel were successful. The new show there is a testimonial to them. Ethel Magafan and Jenne Magafan, with certain stylistic attributes in common, both paint the objective scene in large, spacious and crisply decorative patterns, Ethel Magafan stressing the stark, brooding mood of nature more than her sister, whose work in low keyed colors is gentle and picturesque. Most effective in creating a vibrant effect of stylization and in rendering an exotic mood in his human forms, Howard Mandel is interested in Byzantine ideas and in geometrically designed concepts of rich feeling. Edward Chavez is represented by an expressionist 'Processional,' and Bruce Currie by a handsome still-life design in this exhibition of extremely competent work by five well-known painters."

The exhibition will be on view until November 24.

Fite Sculpture

Woodstock, Oct. 16 — The Associated American Artists Galleries, 711 Fifth avenue, New York, announced the opening Monday of an exhibition of sculpture by Harvey Fite, of Zena. Fite is one of the few top ranking American sculptors who work directly in stone. According to the announcement made by the gallery Fite is "an extraordinary craftsman, his approach is honest not merely in technique but in results. There is power and strength, compassion and understanding, humor and pathos in his work, and above all one finds an understanding of strictly sculptural quality whether it be on a monumental or intimate scale."

Village Notes

Woodstock, Oct. 16—Mr. and Mrs. Bud Blazy had as their week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. William Fricke of Bergenfield, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider and children of Pearl River, N. Y.

It was erroneously reported that Mr and Mrs. Karl Cousins and their daughters Carol and Elaine visited Mr. Cousins' brother a week ago Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Cousins visited Mrs. Cousins' brother Waldo Smith at Providence, R. I. Mr. Smith had never seen his twin nieces.

Mrs. Gladys Mitchell will leave for her home in St. Augustine, Fla., Saturday.

000,000 the President asked. Its letter, signed by Nathan E. Cowan of the CIO Legislative Department, said it would urge Mr. Truman to veto the bill if Congress okays it.

Calls for Increase

The bill calls for an increase of $2,333,000,000 in individual income taxes, $2,195,000,000 more in corporation taxes, and an additional $1,204,000,000 in excise (sales) taxes over a full year's operation. However, some miscellaneous provisions of the bill will result in revenue losses, cutting the net increase in treasury income to the $5,732,000,000 figure.

For the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, the increase was estimated at $2,768,000,000, several billions shy of the amount which treasury officials say will be required to balance the budget.

The individual income tax boosts of 11¾ per cent are to take effect Nov. 1.

Burglars Enter

terior of The Men's Shop was strewn with men's clothing, and when its owner, Robert Fatum, arrived from Saugerties he reported extensive damage to clothing. Suits, socks, shirts and ties were missing, he reported.

Mrs. Dorothy Abrams, proprietor of the Village Shop, reported a quantity of sterling silver missing from that place.

The four stores are located in one block in the building between the Irvington Inn and the Village Square.

Broken windows in the rear of the four stores indicated entrance had been made from the large parking lot behind the building.

Two Not Entered

Two other stores in the building were not entered, according to early reports. They were the Woodstock Liquor Store, which has barricaded windows, and Allen's Electric and Supply Company.

Mrs. Abrams reported between $10 and $15 missing from her store.

The Masonic Square Club funds taken from Stowell's contained not only the collections made there but the contents of a jar that had been in the Woodstock Hotel. Earl Snyder, on closing the hotel, had dumped the contents of that jar into Stowell's. Another Square Club jar was reported taken from the Woodstock Dairy office.

Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police Phoenicia outpost, and Constables Charles Farley and Clarence Snyder of Woodstock were notified by villagers after the thefts were discovered. Supervisor Kenneth Wilson, also notified, assisted investigators, and County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office were assigned to the case.

Textile Man Tells

$11,000 was owed by his woolen company and the rest represented personal liability.

Shapiro quoted Friedman as saying he could "straighten out my tax liabilities" and "shave it down to about $40,000."

Friedman, Shapiro continued, demanded a fee of $10,000 for "compromising his tax indebtedness." He said Friedman also told him that he and Hugh Finnegan "just came down from a friend of yours"—Collector Delaney.

Called Collector

"I called up the collector and asked about these two fellows. He said they were okay," Shapiro testified.

"He told me they were in the tax business in New York and that Hugh Finnegan was a brother of the collector in St. Louis. He said Mr. Finnegan (James P. Finnegan) was scheduled to take the place of Mr. Schoeneman as internal revenue collector in Washington."

George J. Schoeneman was internal revenue collector at the time. He resigned earlier this year and has been succeeded by John A. Dunlap.

Shapiro said he gave Friedman a check for $5,000, adding, "as long as these men were sent down from the collector's office, I assumed it was alright."

As Pegler Sees It

casion, Tobias paid honor to the leader of the world-wide conspiracy against the free nations of the world.

On page 1222: The National Federation for Constitutional Liberties is condemned as "perhaps the foremost Communist-front in the United States." Tobias is named as an "affiliate." On page 1257 the name of Tobias appears again as a signer of a "message to the House of Representatives" urging the abolition of the Committee on Un-American Activities. This "petition" was organized by the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties.

"Channing H. Tobias was a member of the executive committee of the National Scottsboro Action Committee," the report says on page 1309. The committee included many prominent and publicly avowed Communists, and the report said the Communist Party completely controlled the Scottsboro Committee.

On page 1369 the report says Doctor Tobias signed a "call to the New York State Conference on Unity." The comment of the committee was: "This conference was one of many front organizations set up to carry out the new line of the Communist party which was based on the fact that Hitler had abrogated the Hitler-Stalin pact by invading Russia."

Now these are but few of many citations of a similar character.

David K. Niles secretly picked the membership of the so-called President's Committee on Civil Rights, which was formed in response to the secret demand of a mysterious committee of unnamed individuals which was led to the White House by Walter White. And Niles selected Tobias as the one Negro who deserved to represent the loyal American Negro population.

And Walter White, the executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had the effrontery to write that Tobias had helped to thwart the Communist plan to use the 15 million American Negroes as "shock troops of revolution." He wrote that the faith of Doctor Tobias in America was "as unshakable" as his "distrust of communism."

"Yet," White wrote, Tobias was made the target of abuse by "writers like Westbrook Pegler" who "is currently engaged in trying by means of innunendo, half-truths and untruths to smear Dr. Tobias, respected and revered 69-year-old Negro leader, as well as the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights."

White has not attempted to contradict a single item in all the abundant, monotonous record of his man's association with fronts, packed with Communists so notorious that their names were by-words in the field of treason against the United States.

Castor-Oil Beans

Vernon, Tex. (AP) — Bad news for the kids. A bumper crop of castor-oil beans is on the way from this North Texas and neighboring Oklahoma area. Farmers expect to reap a harvest of more than $2,000,000 when the work's all done this fall. However, the kids don't get it all. Uncle Sam is stockpiling the stuff because it's used in manufacturing a special grease for jet airplanes. Its lubricating properties stand up equally well in extremes of heat or cold.

Taking her inspiration from the old tiles created by the Dutch settlers in the Hudson valley, such as those in the Senate House in Kingston, Mrs. Brokensaw has used bird and flower motifs against backgrounds of two shades of light blue. The tiles were set in the fireplace with the assistance of Brock Brokenshaw.

Local Artists Are In New York Show

Woodstock, Oct. 16—The exhibition of American paintings, sculpture and ceramics by the Ganso Gallery group, which includes a number of Woodstock's well-known artists, will open at the New York gallery, 125 East 57th street, Oct. 29. Woodstock artists represented in the show are Edward Chavez, Herman Cherry, Bruce Curry, Ethel Magafan, Jenne Magafan, Howard Mandel, William Pachner, Alex Redein, Tomas Penning and Carl Walters.

According to a review by Carlyle Burrows in the Sunday art section of the New York Herald Tribune, "The Ganso gallery boasts of five artists who in the last awards of Fulbright fellowship grants for foreign travel were successful. The new show there is a testimonial to them. Ethel Magafan and Jenne Magafan, with certain stylistic attributes in common, both paint the objective scene in large, spacious and crisply decorative patterns, Ethel Magafan stressing the stark, brooding mood of nature more than her sister, whose work in low keyed colors is gentle and picturesque. Most effective in creating a vibrant effect of stylization and in rendering an exotic mood in his human forms, Howard Mandel is interested in Byzantine ideas and in geometrically designed concepts of rich feeling. Edward Chavez is represented by an expressionist 'Processional,' and Bruce Currie by a handsome still-life design in this exhibition of extremely competent work by five well-known painters."

The exhibition will be on view until November 24.

Fite Sculpture

Woodstock, Oct. 16 — The Associated American Artists Galleries, 711 Fifth avenue, New York, announced the opening Monday of an exhibition of sculpture by Harvey Fite, of Zena. Fite is one of the few top ranking American sculptors who work directly in stone. According to the announcement made by the gallery Fite is "an extraordinary craftsman, his approach is honest not merely in technique but in results. There is power and strength, compassion and understanding, humor and pathos in his work, and above all one finds an understanding of strictly sculptural quality whether it be on a monumental or intimate scale."

000,000 the President asked. Its letter, signed by Nathan E. Cowan of the CIO Legislative Department, said it would urge Mr. Truman to veto the bill if Congress okays it.

Calls for Increase

The bill calls for an increase of $2,333,000,000 in individual income taxes, $2,195,000,000 more in corporation taxes, and an additional $1,204,000,000 in excise (sales) taxes over a full year's operation. However, some miscellaneous provisions of the bill will result in revenue losses, cutting the net increase in treasury income to the $5,732,000,000 figure.

For the current fiscal year, ending next June 30, the increase was estimated at $2,768,000,000, several billions shy of the amount which treasury officials say will be required to balance the budget.

The individual income tax boosts of 11¾ per cent are to take effect Nov. 1.

The Scythians

The Scythians, a nomadic tribe that roamed the country north of ancient Greece, lived in ox-drawn house trailers before 200 B. C.

Burglars Enter

terior of The Men's Shop was strewn with men's clothing, and when its owner, Robert Fatum, arrived from Saugerties he reported extensive damage to clothing. Suits, socks, shirts and ties were missing, he reported.

Mrs. Dorothy Abrams, proprietor of the Village Shop, reported a quantity of sterling silver missing from that place.

The four stores are located in one block in the building between the Irvington Inn and the Village Square.

Broken windows in the rear of the four stores indicated entrance had been made from the large parking lot behind the building.

Two Not Entered

Two other stores in the building were not entered, according to early reports. They were the Woodstock Liquor Store, which has barricaded windows, and Allen's Electric and Supply Company.

Mrs. Abrams reported between $10 and $15 missing from her store.

The Masonic Square Club funds taken from Stowell's contained not only the collections made there but the contents of a jar that had been in the Woodstock Hotel. Earl Snyder, on closing the hotel, had dumped the contents of that jar into Stowell's. Another Square Club jar was reported taken from the Woodstock Dairy office.

Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police Phoenicia outpost, and Constables Charles Farley and Clarence Snyder of Woodstock were notified by villagers after the thefts were discovered. Supervisor Kenneth Wilson, also notified, assisted investigators, and County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Identification Officer Arthur H. Brown of the sheriff's office were assigned to the case.

Textile Man Tells

$11,000 was owed by his woolen company and the rest represented personal liability.

Shapiro quoted Friedman as saying he could "straighten out my tax liabilities" and "shave it down to about $40,000."

Friedman, Shapiro continued, demanded a fee of $10,000 for "compromising his tax indebtedness." He said Friedman also told him that he and Hugh Finnegan "just came down from a friend of yours"—Collector Delaney.

Called Collector

"I called up the collector and asked about these two fellows. He said they were okay," Shapiro testified.

"He told me they were in the tax business in New York and that Hugh Finnegan was a brother of the collector in St. Louis. He said Mr. Finnegan (James P. Finnegan) was scheduled to take the place of Mr. Schoeneman as internal revenue collector in Washington."

George J. Schoeneman was internal revenue collector at the time. He resigned earlier this year and has been succeeded by John A. Dunlap.

Shapiro said he gave Friedman a check for $5,000, adding, "as long as these men were sent down from the collector's office, I assumed it was alright."

As Pegler Sees It

casion, Tobias paid honor to the leader of the world-wide conspiracy against the free nations of the world.

On page 1222: The National Federation for Constitutional Liberties is condemned as "perhaps the foremost Communist-front in the United States." Tobias is named as an "affiliate." On page 1257 the name of Tobias appears again as a signer of a "message to the House of Representatives" urging the abolition of the Committee on Un-American Activities. This "petition" was organized by the National Federation for Constitutional Liberties.

"Channing H. Tobias was a member of the executive committee of the National Scottsboro Action Committee," the report says on page 1309. The committee included many prominent and publicly avowed Communists, and the report said the Communist Party completely controlled the Scottsboro Committee.

On page 1369 the report says Doctor Tobias signed a "call to the New York State Conference on Unity." The comment of the committee was: "This conference was one of many front organizations set up to carry out the new line of the Communist party which was based on the fact that Hitler had abrogated the Hitler-Stalin pact by invading Russia."

Now these are but few of many citations of a similar character.

David K. Niles secretly picked the membership of the so-called President's Committee on Civil Rights, which was formed in response to the secret demand of a mysterious committee of unnamed individuals which was led to the White House by Walter White. And Niles selected Tobias as the one Negro who deserved to represent the loyal American Negro population.

And Walter White, the executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, had the effrontery to write that Tobias had helped to thwart the Communist plan to use the 15 million American Negroes as "shock troops of revolution." He wrote that the faith of Doctor Tobias in America was "as unshakable" as his "distrust of communism."

"Yet," White wrote, Tobias was made the target of abuse by "writers like Westbrook Pegler" who "is currently engaged in trying by means of innunendo, half-truths and untruths to smear Dr. Tobias, respected and revered 69-year-old Negro leader, as well as the report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights."

White has not attempted to contradict a single item in all the abundant, monotonous record of his man's association with fronts, packed with Communists so notorious that their names were bywords in the field of treason against the United States.

Castor-Oil Beans

Vernon, Tex. (AP) — Bad news for the kids. A bumper crop of castor-oil beans is on the way from this North Texas and neighboring Oklahoma area. Farmers expect to reap a harvest of more than $2,000,000 when the work's all done this fall. However, the kids don't get it all. Uncle Sam is stockpiling the stuff because it's used in manufacturing a special grease for jet airplanes. Its lubricating properties stand up equally well in extremes of heat or cold.

There's nothing extraordinary about that, said a judge when a man said his wife had thrown him out of the house, but the man replied: "No, but she kept my artificial legs and I can't walk."

Husband—I was sitting up with a sick friend—and if you want to know the whole truth, I was as sick as he was.

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Lightening Your Tax Load

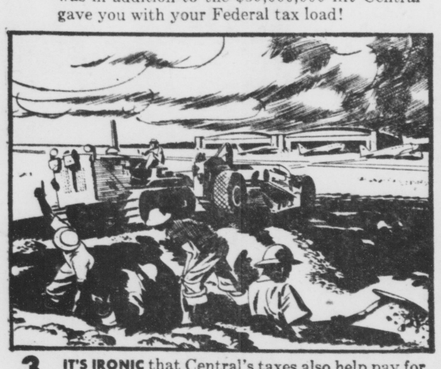

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. LIKE YOUR HOME, plant or store, railroad property pays local taxes. In your own state—New York—New York Central paid taxes totaling more than $16,000,000 last year. And that sum was in addition to the $39,000,000 lift Central gave you with your Federal tax load!

2. CENTRAL HELPS local taxpayers foot the bill for some very important things. Fire departments that guard property and help keep down insurance rates. Schools for your youngsters. Police protection that makes the American hometown one of the world's safest places to live.

3. IT'S IRONIC that Central's taxes also help pay for airports, canals, and extra heavy, extra costly highways. For it's these tax-subsidized facilities that let airlines, barges, heavy trucks and intercity busses compete with your self-supporting Railroad . . . at the expense of all taxpayers!

4. BUT ANY WAY they are used, railroad tax dollars mean that much less for you and your neighbors to pay on tax day. Paying taxes is one more way in which New York Central forms a l[illegible]g part of every community along its 11,000 miles. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

An estimated 200 Grange members from the Mid-Hudson area are expected to take their sixth degree Wednesday at a special session of the New York State Grange in Kingston, it was announced today by Vernon Barnhart of Stone Ridge, deputy state master for Ulster county.

The special session will be held at the municipal auditorium here at 8 p. m. Besides the 200 degree candidates, several hundred other Grangers will be in attendance to watch the ceremonies.

Officers of the State Grange, under direction of Henry D. Sherwood of Pine Plains, state master, will confer the degfree. A Rose Drill by 16 youngsters from Plattekill Grange under the direction of Mrs. Charles Everett and Mrs. Leander Minard will be a feature of the ceremonies.

Wednesday's session is one of five special sessions this week in southeastern New York prior to the annual session of National Grange in Atlantic City, Nov. 16 and 17. At that session, 10,000 Grangers from the Eastern seaboard will take their seventh degree — highest offered by the Grange.

Tickets for the sixth degree will be available at the door of the municipal auditorium Wednesday evening. Candidates must have had the first five degrees to be eligible.

THE CENTRAL IDEA

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

Lightening Your Tax Load

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. LIKE YOUR HOME, plant or store, railroad property pays local taxes. In your own state—New York—New York Central paid taxes totaling more than $16,000,000 last year. And that sum was in addition to the $39,000,000 lift Central gave you with your Federal tax load!

2. CENTRAL HELPS local taxpayers foot the bill for some very important things. Fire departments that guard property and help keep down insurance rates. Schools for your youngsters. Police protection that makes the American hometown one of the world's safest places to live.

3. IT'S IRONIC that Central's taxes also help pay for airports, canals, and extra heavy, extra costly highways. For it's these tax-subsidized facilities that let airlines, barges, heavy trucks and intercity busses compete with your self-supporting Railroad... at the expense of all taxpayers!

4. BUT ANY WAY they are used, railroad tax dollars mean that much less for you and your neighbors to pay on tax day. Paying taxes is one more way in which New York Central forms a living part of every community along its 11,000 miles. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-style gown of Chantilly lace, with a scalloped nylon yoke trimmed with seed pearls, and long, pointed sleeves. A braided coronet trimmed with imported orange blossoms, secured her chapel-length veil, and she carried a nosegay of white pompons and white roses, with white streamers.

Miss Carol Mehm of 28 Staples street was her sister's only attendant. She was dressed in a pink satin gown with a matching hat and mitts, and carried a nosegay of pink pompons with blue streamers.

Vincent Berardi of 142 Hooker street was best man. Frank Mehm, brother of the bride, and James Benicase ushered.

Following the ceremony, 100 guests attended a reception at the Lawton Park recreation building. Mr. and Mrs. Naccarato then left for a wedding trip to Canada. The bride wore a suit of imported tweed for traveling, and black and wine accessories. Upon their return, the couple will make their temporary home with the groom's parents.

Mrs. Naccarato was graduated from Kingston High School, and the Central Academy of Beauty Culture, Newburgh. She is employed at Mickey's Beauty Parlor.

The groom attended Kingston High School, and is an employe of the New York Central Railroad.

WEDDING AND ENGAGEMENT RINGS

A letter this morning says: "I'd like very much to know the explanation for the difference in wearing wedding and engagement rings. I've noticed some married women wear their band on top of the engagement ring; others just the reverse.

Answer: The wedding ring is always put on first as in many cases it is never removed, throughout life. The engagement ring is always placed on top of the wedding ring and frequently removed to be cleaned, etc.

Head of the Table

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm sure I read somewhere that the wife was head of the table and as such sat at the head of the dining table. If this is correct please tell me which end of our table is considered the head—facing the kitchen for example, or away from it?

Answer: Wherever the wife chooses to sit is "the head of the table." Usually this place is nearest the kitchen door.

Aunt Gives Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my niece has no one of her friends in a position to give her a shower, may I give it, inviting her friends and our relatives and perhaps a few of the man's closest relatives? (Her own friends are either going to be away with their husbands in service or back at college.)

Answer: No one could more properly give it than you!

Receiving Line

Dear Mrs. Post: I noticed recently that some of the wedding guests left the reception before the bride and groom had cut their wedding cake. They were still receiving late-coming guests. How could this have been avoided? Seems to me they wouldn't have had to receive after a certain length of time.

Answer: They have to keep on receiving for so long as there is a queue of arrivals. When there is a pause of any length they then cut the cake.

Is it permissible to cut a salad with a knife? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-19, "Table Rules of Importance," will help you. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

$50,000 Suit Filed

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Former model Judith Morgan has filed suit for $50,000 damages for a trip she made to the Bellevue Hospital psychiatric ward last March. Miss Morgan filed the suit against Dr. Perry Lichtenstein, psychiatrist attached to the staff of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. She said he had no reason to order her taken to the ward. Lichtenstein, in a general denial, said he decided Bellevue doctors should observe her after she visited Hogan's office and "made threats against the lives of two doctors and threatened to kill herself."

WEDDING AND ENGAGEMENT RINGS

A letter this morning says: "I'd like very much to know the explanation for the difference in wearing wedding and engagement rings. I've noticed some married women wear their band on top of the engagement ring; others just the reverse.

Answer: The wedding ring is always put on first as in many cases it is never removed, throughout life. The engagement ring is always placed on top of the wedding ring and frequently removed to be cleaned, etc.

Head of the Table

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm sure I read somewhere that the wife was head of the table and as such sat at the head of the dining table. If this is correct please tell me which end of our table is considered the head—facing the kitchen for example, or away from it?

Answer: Wherever the wife chooses to sit is "the head of the table." Usually this place is nearest the kitchen door.

Aunt Gives Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my niece has no one of her friends in a position to give her a shower, may I give it, inviting her friends and our relatives and perhaps a few of the man's closest relatives? (Her own friends are either going to be away with their husbands in service or back at college.)

Answer: No one could more properly give it than you!

Receiving Line

Dear Mrs. Post: I noticed recently that some of the wedding guests left the reception before the bride and groom had cut their wedding cake. They were still receiving late-coming guests. How could this have been avoided? Seems to me they wouldn't have had to receive after a certain length of time.

Answer: They have to keep on receiving for so long as there is a queue of arrivals. When there is a pause of any length they then cut the cake.

$50,000 Suit Filed

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—Former model Judith Morgan has filed suit for $50,000 damages for a trip she made to the Bellevue Hospital psychiatric ward last March. Miss Morgan filed the suit against Dr. Perry Lichtenstein, psychiatrist attached to the staff of District Attorney Frank S. Hogan. She said he had no reason to order her taken to the ward. Lichtenstein, in a general denial, said he decided Bellevue doctors should observe her after she visited Hogan's office and "made threats against the lives of two doctors and threatened to kill herself."

Eastern League Aces to Play With Rizzuto-Berra All Stars

Flock of .300 Hitters Due Here on Sunday

Eastern League stars will form the nucleus of the Yogi Berra-Phil Rizzuto All Stars for the exhibition game against Al Cuccinello's All Stars (Bushwicks) on Sunday at 2 p. m. at municipal stadium.

The contest, sponsored by Fred Davi and Cordts Hose, will be highlighted by the appearance of a flock of .300 hitters in the All Star lineup.

Davi saw the Berra-Rizzuto combine whip the Georgia Chain Gang in Hartford on Sunday and said Rizzuto and Berra are in top shape.

Rizzuto cracked a pair of singles, while Yogi had two singles and a double in five trips.

Topnotch Hurlers

The All Star pitching staff includes two members of the Hartford Chiefs of the Eastern circuit —Bruno Perzan and Ed Lenthe, rookie flinger who compiled an 8 and 4 mark for the 1951 season. The third member of the hurling corps is Ray Belske, a bonus pitcher who belongs to the parent Boston Braves organization.

The balance of the lineup to be headed by the Yankee stars as follows:

Ed Tickey, catcher-outfielder, who hit .302 with Fort Worth Cats of the Texas League. The Cats are a Brooklyn Dodger farm squad.

Frank Piascik, former Colonial League first sacker with Bridgeport.

Harold Lewis, a .334 hitter with Quebec of the Canadian Provincial League. He will be the lone Negro on the squad.

Eddie Kuk, brother of the renowned Steve Kuk of Colgate and New York Giants fame. Young Kuk was a .331 swatsmith with Hagerstown of the Class B Interstate League.

Ed Torrell, another member of the West Haven Sailors who played five years with the Hartford Chiefs.

Rounding out the roster is Josh Bolack of Houston of the Texas League.

Bushwicks Strong

"This lineup is better than Class A," said Davi and against the Bushwicks should stage one of the best ball games ever seen in Kingston."

Al Cuccinello, a landmark with the Bushwicks for the past decade, will head the famous semi-pro outfit. Cuccinello has been in Kingston many times in the past, playing with and against local squads.

Tony DePhillips, the tall, angular catcher will be behind the plate for the Cuccinello Stars. He is a former N.Y.U. all-round athletic great and was in the majors briefly with the New York Giants.

Joe DiGrace, Bushwick first sacker, is another visiting player with major league experience.

"All we're hoping for is a break in weather," Davi said. "If we get a nice day, we expect to see a lot of folks up at the stadium."

Whither small town and minor league baseball of the future, now that television is here to stay?

This most pertinent of all sports subjects of the day was kicked around in brilliant fashion by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Dick McCarthy at the City Baseball League banquet Saturday night at Tommie DeCicco's tavern.

Other speakers touched on the issue in brief remarks but Hizzoner and The Voice discoursed on opposite sides of the fence and their observations left a weighty message with the audience. Baseball in the smaller areas is no longer the panacea of promoters. It is becoming a large headache with no geographical boundaries.

Anytime you mention the inevitable collapse of minor league baseball, you can't avoid a showdown on the question of radio and television. These are powerful factors in the future of baseball.

The mayor said he believed that baseball still has a firm grip on the American public and is the greatest of all American sports. He even hinted strongly that organized baseball might continue in Kingston next season. The Little League, American Legion and other junior baseball promotions will keep the game alive, he insisted. Every one agreed with his assertion that there will always be a City League.

McCarthy told of an interesting talk he had had with Larry Knapp, the freshman umpire of the American League, in Staten Island the night of the K.H.S.-Curtis contest.

Knapp painted a drab picture of the effects of television on sports attendance in metropolitan sections and in areas within the range of TV shows.

"Baseball has taken on a monster in TV," McCarthy said, "and the inevitable showdown is not too far off.

"Umpire Knapp told me that the attendance at sports events on the island had declined pitifully since the major leagues started televising their games. An enthusiastic promoter decided to bring Whitey Ford, the Yankee sensational 1950 rookie, into the island for an exhibition this summer. The folks all shut off their television sets and simply went mad over the opportunity to see Ford in person. Mad to the extent of 254 paid admissions.

"As Knapp pointed out," McCarthy continued, "TV, which is just getting started, will make an even more drastic change in the loyalties of baseball fans. It's only a matter of time until you can sit in your living room or office in Kingston, in Knoxville, in Kansas City or Paducah and see all the big league stars. That'll be the end of minor league fans."

Just by way of tossing in a third argument, Carl Hubbell, the famous Giant pitcher who now heads the club's farm system, is of the firm opinion that the minor league fan—that is, the fellow who sticks loyally by the local club—is rapidly disappearing—a victim of TV's wonders.

"Television is the answer," says Hubbell in no uncertain terms.

"Fans everywhere are becoming more big league conscious. Those daily broadcasts and TV weaned them away from the local clubs in the minors.

"Baseball's biggest problem today is to find a way to keep the minor leagues alive. That's the responsibility of the major leagues.

"I think we'll have less leagues in a few years," Hubbell added, "but all of them will be run by the majors. There is no other way out if the structure of baseball is to be maintained and the big leagues want to remain big league in quality and stature. We must keep the flow of young players coming along.

"Who will foot the bill?" Hubbell asks.

"Phonovision is the answer. You insert a quarter or a half dollar in a slot and see the game. That may be the answer. The dough to keep the minors going must come from somewhere. Everybody in baseball would like to know the answer. One thing is certain; you can't stop progress and TV, for better or worse, is with us to stay."

Well there you have three arguments representing the sincere convictions of the gentlemen involved. Who are we to believe. McCarthy? Hizzoner? Hubbell? What do you think?

White Sox Purchase Dodger Farmhand

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 16 (AP)—The Mobile Bears today sold Don Nicholas, speedy 21-year-old outfielder, to the Chicago White Sox on a conditional basis.

Nicholas will be given a trial by the Sox next spring. If he fails to make the grade he'll be returned to Mobile.

Rated one of the fastest men in the Brooklyn Dodger organization, Nicholas stole 29 bases while playing with Mobile only part of last season. He was runnerup to teammate Russ Rose, who won Southern Association base stealing honors with 31.

Nicholas hit .333 with the Bears. He came to Mobile from St. Paul.

LOOSED BOMBARDMENT ON IRISH

Southern Methodist University's lanky Fred Benners, shown practicing his specialty in a training session, is the bombardier whose passing wizardry beat Notre Dame's grid team, Oct. 13, at South Bend, Ind. Rupp Blasts Cage Critics

Chicago, Oct. 16 (AP)—Kentucky basketball coach Adolph Rupp has taken a slap at criticism levelled against college players involved in the recent cage fix scandals.

Rupp told the Herald-American Quarterback Club yesterday that "it's time somebody stood up for basketball....ten million kids have been playing basketball for the last 58 years and very few boys have strayed from the narrow path."

Rupp, who coaches the collegiate squad which meets the Rochester Royals at Chicago Stadium Friday night in the annual all-star basketball game, called for leniency in public opinion against the fix players.

"The Black Sox three games," he said. "These kids shaved points. It's not fair to bracket them along with that baseball scandal. There's a difference in throwing a game and shaving points."

The famous coach said he could not condone the betting that spawned the cage scandals.

"But here are New York papers printing odds before a game," he said. "If newspapers are allowed to print odds for the benefit of guttersnipes who infest the fringes of sport, maybe we should check up on some newspapers, also. Why take it out on the kids if point spreads are flaunted at them? Why forever condemn a boy for his one mistake of a lifetime?"

Jayvee Eleven Plays Newburgh

Off to a flying start with an impressive 24 to 0 victory over Goshen High, the K.H.S. Jayvees launch a four-week Saturday afternoon stand against the Newburgh Jayvees this weekend at municipal stadium.

The Maroon Jayvees showed plenty of power and finesse in toppling the Orange county eleven. Goshen had previously lost to Port Jervis of the DUSO League, 41-0, and by 21-8 to Highland Falls.

Harrell scored the first Maroon TD against Goshen on a four-yard plunge. Schmitz galloped across from 30 yards out, while Giles accounted for a pair of makers on a short plunge and a 30-yard run.

DiMaggio Believed Certain to Quit

San Francisco, Oct. 16 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, giving every indication he's played his last major league ball game, nevertheless says he won't make his decision final for at least a month.

Then he'll tell New York Yankee boss Dan Topping, the centerfield ace said as he departed yesterday for a month's baseball tour of Japan.

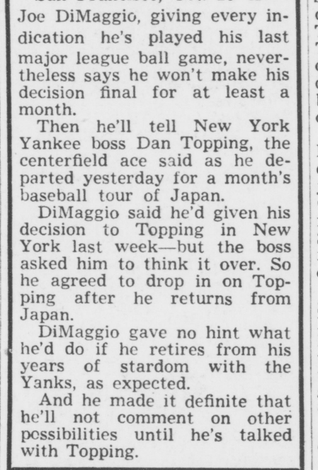

DiMaggio said he'd given his decision to Topping in New York last week—but the boss asked him to think it over. So he agreed to drop in on Topping after he returns from Japan.

DiMaggio gave no hint what he'd do if he retires from his years of stardom with the Yanks, as expected.

And he made it definite that he'll not comment on other possibilities until he's talked with Topping.

California and Tennessee Rated Top College Squads in Nation

Michigan State Drops to Third

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Golden Bears of the University of California took over today as the No. 1 college football team in the land after threatening to hit the top for two weeks.

Coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf's men, winners of four straight this season, collected 1,129 points in the third weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters across the nation. They easily beat out Tennessee, the No. 2 team with 977, and Michigan State, No. 3, with 935.

Further, the Bears were voted the No. 1 spot on 50 of the 138 ballots cast, compared to 26 for Tennessee and 16 for Michigan State, the leader in the first two polls.

To new members joined the top ten. They were Princeton and Baylor, which took over the No. 9 and No. 10 spots, respectively. Others in the charmed circle included Texas, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Texas A and M, No. 6; Maryland No. 7 and Illinois, No. 8.

Notre Dame, the early-season surprise, and Ohio State, the pre-campaign favorite to win the Big Ten championship, both tumbled. The Buckeyes, held to a 6-6 standoff by Wisconsin Saturday, dropped to 17th, and Notre Dame, beaten 27-20 by Southern Methodist, plummeted to No. 21.

Texas, Georgia Tech and Maryland all improved their positions over a week ago. The Longhorns jumped from sixth after whipping Oklahoma, 9-7. Tech moved up from eighth by beating Louisiana State 25-7, and Maryland advanced from tenth with its 43-7 triumph over Georgia.

California tripped Washington State 42-35, while Michigan State had to come from behind to beat Marquette, 20-14. Tennessee, which was voted the most likely team to wind up No. 1 in the preseason AP poll, turned back Chattanooga, 42-13.

Texas A and M, one of the Southwest Conference favorites, and Illinois, which could wind up the Big 10 winner, both won their games, but each went down on the list, the Aggies from fourth to sixth and the Illini from seventh to eighth.

Texas A and M smothered Trinity of Texas, 52-14, and Illinois defeated Syracuse, 41-20.

The points were figured on 10 for first place, nine for second and so on down the line.

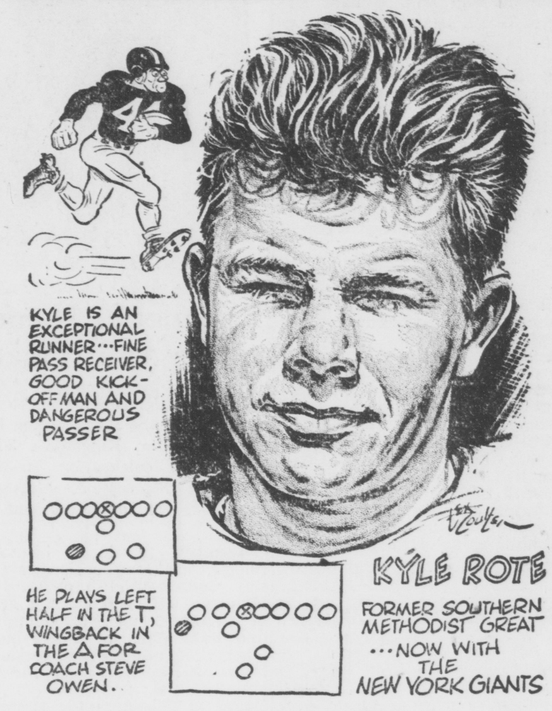

The first ten with first place votes in parenthesis:

Team	Points
1. California (50)	1,129
2. Tennessee (26)	977
3. Michigan State (16)	935
4. Texas (6)	719
5. Georgia Tech (12)	689
6. Texas A&M (8)	652
7. Maryland (14)	634
8. Illinois (3)	584
9. Princeton (1)	221
10. Baylor	148

Providence, R. I.—Bob Baker, 223¼, Pittsburgh, Pa., stopped Billy Gilliam, 211, East Orange, N. J. (10).

New Orleans—Jackie Graves, 130½, Austin, Minn., outpointed Proctor Heinhold, 130¼, Oklahoma City, Okla. (10).

No. 1 Rookie - - - - - by Tex Coulter

Burning Desire to Play Makes Kyle Rote a Star

By DEWITT "TEX" COULTER
(N. Y. Giants Tackle)

"He can't miss making good as a pro", declares Steve Owen, referring to his ace rookie halfback from Southern Methodist, Kyle Rote.

Steve, coach of the New York Giants, clarifies his statement about the former All-American: "Kyle has everything to make him a great back in this league. His desire, drive and ability allow him to be classified as a great runner, fine kick-off man, powerful blocker, sure pass receiver and dangerous passer".

Especially does Kyle have desire. The 6-foot, 195-pound Texan damaged his knee so severely in one of the early season scrimmages that he was forced out of practice for a lengthy period.

The Giants' league opener with the Pittsburgh Steelers approached with Kyle in need of hard work to get back into playing shape.

As soon as the knee would allow him to do so, Kyle—on his own—started two-a-day work-outs. He practiced in the morning by himself and with the team in the afternoon. He continued this rigid training until his condition approached the rest of the squad's.

"For a player to go through those two-a-day work-outs shows he really wants to play football", volunteered Giant trainer Sid Moret.

Though Kyle is one of the game's most versatile players, his running is his most valuable contribution to the Giants.

Kyle bends from the waist forward as he slashes for yardage from left halfback in the T and wingback in the A for Owen. This natural quality is a valuable asset to a runner, for it enables him to gain those added yards when he is tackled.

As Kyle is about to be tackled he drops his shoulder slightly and drives into the opponent with it. This affords him extra drive and allows him to fall forward—instead of backwards as does a straight up runner — when he is tackled.

Owen puts his all-around okay on Rote, the No. 1 pick of 1951 football.

"Television is the answer," says Hubbell in no uncertain terms.

"Fans everywhere are becoming more big league conscious. Those daily broadcasts and TV weaned them away from the local clubs in the minors.

"Baseball's biggest problem today is to find a way to keep the minor leagues alive. That's the responsibility of the major leagues.

"I think we'll have less leagues in a few years," Hubbell added, "but all of them will be run by the majors. There is no other way out if the structure of baseball is to be maintained and the big leagues want to remain big league in quality and stature. We must keep the flow of young players coming along.

"Who will foot the bill?" Hubbell asks.

"Phonovision is the answer. You insert a quarter or a half dollar in a slot and see the game. That may be the answer. The dough to keep the minors going must come from somewhere. Everybody in baseball would like to know the answer. One thing is certain; you can't stop progress and TV, for better or worse, is with us to stay."

Well there you have three arguments representing the sincere convictions of the gentlemen involved. Who are we to believe. McCarthy? Hizzoner? Hubbell? What do you think?

White Sox Purchase Dodger Farmhand

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 16 (AP)—The Mobile Bears today sold Don Nicholas, speedy 21-year-old outfielder, to the Chicago White Sox on a conditional basis.

Nicholas will be given a trial by the Sox next spring. If he fails to make the grade he'll be returned to Mobile.

Rated one of the fastest men in the Brooklyn Dodger organization, Nicholas stole 29 bases while playing with Mobile only part of last season. He was runnerup to teammate Russ Rose, who won Southern Association base stealing honors with 31.

Nicholas hit .333 with the Bears. He came to Mobile from St. Paul.

LOOSED BOMBARDMENT ON IRISH

Southern Methodist University's lanky Fred Benners, shown practicing his specialty in a training session, is the bombardier whose passing wizardry beat Notre Dame's grid team, Oct. 13, at South Bend, Ind. The 6 foot, 3 inch aerialist completed 22 of 44 passes for 336 yards and four touchdowns in leading his team to a 27-20 upset over the favored Irish.

Rupp Blasts Cage Critics

Chicago, Oct. 16 (AP)—Kentucky basketball coach Adolph Rupp has taken a slap at criticism levelled against college players involved in the recent cage fix scandals.

Rupp told the Herald-American Quarterback Club yesterday that "it's time somebody stood up for basketball....ten million kids have been playing basketball for the last 58 years and very few boys have strayed from the narrow path."

Rupp, who coaches the collegiate squad which meets the Rochester Royals at Chicago Stadium Friday night in the annual all-star basketball game, called for leniency in public opinion against the fix players.

"The Black Sox three games," he said. "These kids shaved points. It's not fair to bracket them along with that baseball scandal. There's a difference in throwing a game and shaving points."

The famous coach said he could not condone the betting that spawned the cage scandals.

"But here are New York papers printing odds before a game," he said. "If newspapers are allowed to print odds for the benefit of guttersnipes who infest the fringes of sport, maybe we should check up on some newspapers, also. Why take it out on the kids if point spreads are flaunted at them? Why forever condemn a boy for his one mistake of a lifetime?"

Jayvee Eleven Plays Newburgh

Off to a flying start with an impressive 24 to 0 victory over Goshen High, the K.H.S. Jayvees launch a four-week Saturday afternoon stand against the Newburgh Jayvees this weekend at municipal stadium.

The Maroon Jayvees showed plenty of power and finesse in toppling the Orange county eleven. Goshen had previously lost to Port Jervis of the DUSO League, 41-0, and by 21-8 to Highland Falls.

Harrell scored the first Maroon TD against Goshen on a four-yard plunge. Schmitz galloped across from 30 yards out, while Giles accounted for a pair of makers on a short plunge and a 30-yard run.

DiMaggio Believed Certain to Quit

San Francisco, Oct. 16 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio, giving every indication he's played his last major league ball game, nevertheless says he won't make his decision final for at least a month.

Then he'll tell New York Yankee boss Dan Topping, the centerfield ace said as he departed yesterday for a month's baseball tour of Japan.

DiMaggio said he'd given his decision to Topping in New York last week—but the boss asked him to think it over. So he agreed to drop in on Topping after he returns from Japan.

DiMaggio gave no hint what he'd do if he retires from his years of stardom with the Yanks, as expected.

And he made it definite that he'll not comment on other possibilities until he's talked with Topping.

California and Tennessee Rated Top College Squads in Nation

Michigan State Drops to Third

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Golden Bears of the University of California took over today as the No. 1 college football team in the land after threatening to hit the top for two weeks.

Coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf's men, winners of four straight this season, collected 1,129 points in the third weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters across the nation. They easily beat out Tennessee, the No. 2 team with 977, and Michigan State, No. 3, with 935.

Further, the Bears were voted the No. 1 spot on 50 of the 138 ballots cast, compared to 26 for Tennessee and 16 for Michigan State, the leader in the first two polls.

To new members joined the top ten. They were Princeton and Baylor, which took over the No. 9 and No. 10 spots, respectively. Others in the charmed circle included Texas, No. 4; Georgia Tech, No. 5; Texas A and M, No. 6; Maryland No. 7 and Illinois, No. 8.

Notre Dame, the early-season surprise, and Ohio State, the pre-campaign favorite to win the Big Ten championship, both tumbled. The Buckeyes, held to a 6-6 standoff by Wisconsin Saturday, dropped to 17th, and Notre Dame, beaten 27-20 by Southern Methodist, plummeted to No. 21.

Texas, Georgia Tech and Maryland all improved their positions over a week ago. The Longhorns jumped from sixth after whipping Oklahoma, 9-7. Tech moved up from eighth by beating Louisiana State 25-7, and Maryland advanced from tenth with its 43-7 triumph over Georgia.

California tripped Washington State 42-35, while Michigan State had to come from behind to beat Marquette, 20-14. Tennessee, which was voted the most likely team to wind up No. 1 in the preseason AP poll, turned back Chattanooga, 42-13.

Texas A and M, one of the Southwest Conference favorites, and Illinois, which could wind up the Big 10 winner, both won their games, but each went down on the list, the Aggies from fourth to sixth and the Illini from seventh to eighth.

Texas A and M smothered Trinity of Texas, 52-14, and Illinois defeated Syracuse, 41-20.

The points were figured on 10 for first place, nine for second and so on down the line.

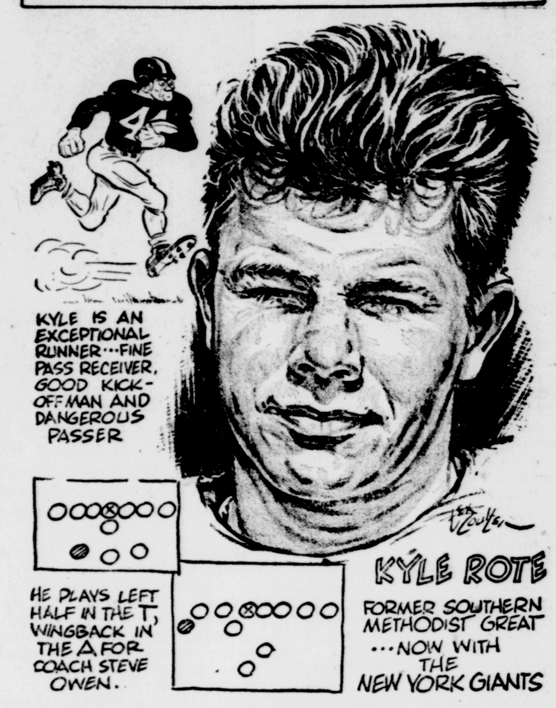

The first ten with first place votes in parenthesis:

Team	Points
1. California (50)	1,129
2. Tennessee (26)	977
3. Michigan State (16)	935
4. Texas (6)	719
5. Georgia Tech (12)	689
6. Texas A&M (8)	652
7. Maryland (14)	634
8. Illinois (3)	584
9. Princeton (1)	221
10. Baylor	148

Providence, R. I.—Bob Baker, 223¼, Pittsburgh, Pa., stopped Billy Gilliam, 211, East Orange, N. J. (10).

New Orleans—Jackie Graves, 130½, Austin, Minn., outpointed Proctor Heinhold, 130¼, Oklahoma City, Okla. (10).

Burning Desire to Play Makes Kyle Rote a Star

By DEWITT "TEX" COULTER
(N. Y. Giants Tackle)

"He can't miss making good as a pro", declares Steve Owen, referring to his ace rookie halfback from Southern Methodist, Kyle Rote.

Steve, coach of the New York Giants, clarifies his statement about the former All-American: "Kyle has everything to make him a great back in this league. His desire, drive and ability allow him to be classified as a great runner, fine kick-off man, powerful blocker, sure pass receiver and dangerous passer".

Especially does Kyle have desire. The 6-foot, 195-pound Texan damaged his knee so severely in one of the early season scrimmages that he was forced out of practice for a lengthy period.

The Giants' league opener with the Pittsburgh Steelers approached with Kyle in need of hard work to get back into playing shape.

As soon as the knee would allow him to do so, Kyle—on his own—started two-a-day work-outs. He practiced in the morning by himself and with the team in the afternoon. He continued this rigid training until his condition approached the rest of the squad's.

"For a player to go through those two-a-day work-outs shows he really wants to play football", volunteered Giant trainer Sid Moret.

Though Kyle is one of the game's most versatile players, his running is his most valuable contribution to the Giants.

Kyle bends from the waist forward as he slashes for yardage from left halfback in the T and wingback in the A for Owen. This natural quality is a valuable asset to a runner, for it enables him to gain those added yards when he is tackled.

As Kyle is about to be tackled he drops his shoulder slightly and drives into the opponent with it. This affords him extra drive and allows him to fall forward—instead of backwards as does a straight up runner — when he is tackled.

Owen puts his all-around okay on Rote, the No. 1 pick of 1951 football.

Van Brocklin Tops Pro Grid Passers; Eddie Price Is Best Ground Gainer

Philadelphia, Oct. 16 (AP)—Norman Van Brocklin, professional football's outstanding second string quarterback, has picked up right where he left off last year—leading the National Football League in the very important art of forward passing.

The Los Angeles Rams' 1950 league passing champ, who plays mostly when teammate Bob Waterfield is having a bad day or is on the injured list, already has an average gain of 11.3 yards for his 67 attempts and 757 yards gained. This high powered "substitute" leads in throwing touchdown passes with eight. Otto Graham of Cleveland rates second on 576 yards gained and two touchdowns.

With Van Brocklin leading the passers, it's only natural that two of the Ram stars are the top pass catchers in the league. Elroy Hirsch is number one man at catching the pigskin with 20 for 389 yards. Close behind is last season's champ and record holder, Tom Fears, with 16 receptions for 284 yards. Fran Polsfoot of the Chicago Cardinals also has latched onto 16 passes but only for 196 yards.

Top Runner

Eddie Price of the New York Giants tops the ground gainers by the narrow margin of five yards. Price, in his sophomore season as a pro, has carried the ball 50 times for 239 yards, an average of 4.8 yards. Verl Lillywhite of the revitalized San Francisco Forty Niners has gone 234 yards on 30 attempts, an average of 7.8. Bob Hoernschemeyer, of Detroit, ranks third with 183 yards gained.

Bob Mann of Green Bay and Hirsch are tied for the scoring leadership each having registered 36 points. Doak Walker, also of Detroit, the scoring champ in 1950, ranks third with 33.

In other departments:

Horace Gillom of Cleveland leads the punters with an average of 47.3 yards. Bob Smith of Detroit is second on a 45.9 average.

Buddy Young of the New York Yanks tops the punt return artists with an average of 39.7. Pittsburgh's Joe Geri has returned kickoffs an average of 54 yards per try to lead that department, while Ray Ramsey of the Cardinals is number one in pass interceptions with five for 90 yards.

Cartier Kayoes Rindone in First

Boston, Oct. 16 (AP)—Adonis-like Walter Cartier's campaign for a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's middleweight boxing title took on added momentum today as a result of his 48-second knockout of Joe Rindone, heretofore durable Bostonian.

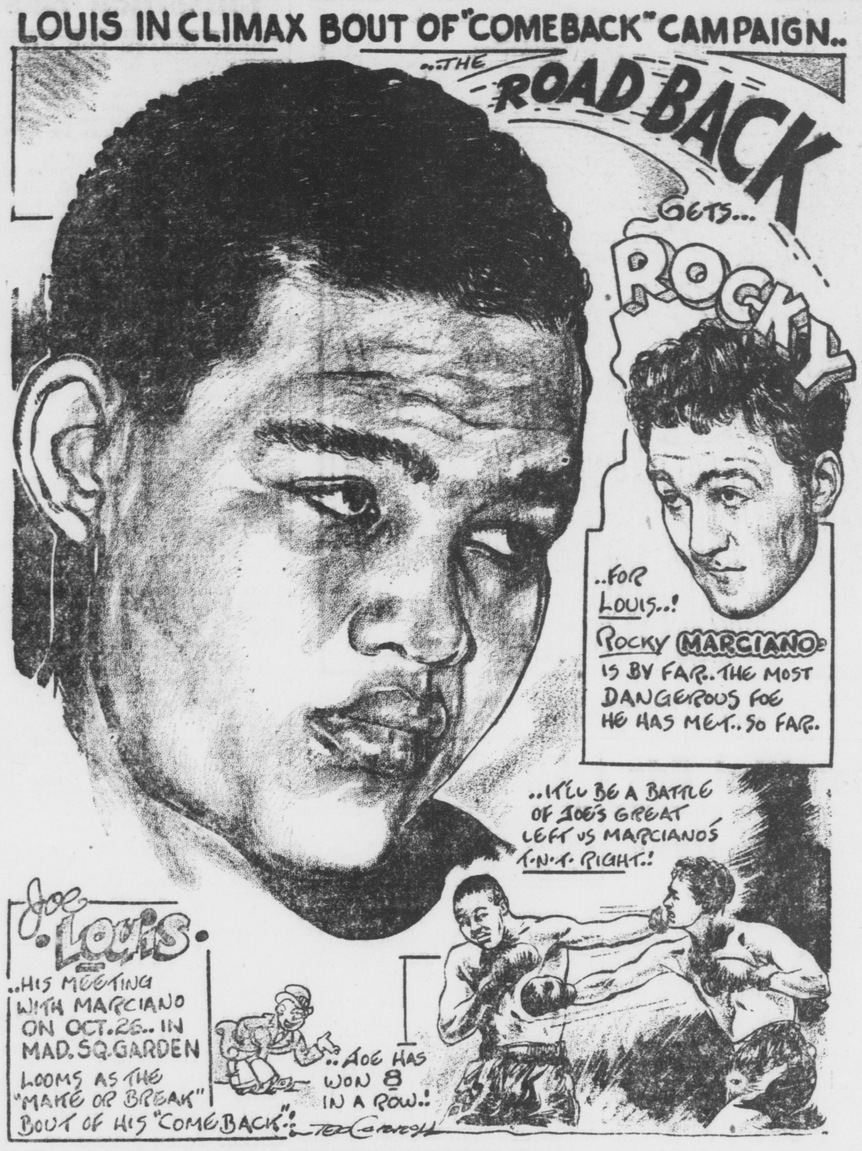

The photogenic Cartier, from New York's Greenwich Village, startled a slim 3,836 Boston Garden crowd with his terrific punching power while knocking out a local favorite so early in the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

As soon as the battlers came together for the start, Cartier hooked a short left that crashed Rindone's overly jutting jaw and put him down for a four-count. Rindone appeared dazed when he regained his feet. Thereupon Cartier measured him with a right and left to the jaw.

As Rindone reeled backwards towards his corner, the handsome New Yorker landed three much heavier lefts and rights to the head and put Rindone away. Cartier was as deliberate in that series as he would be punching a bag in a gymnasium.

Cartier swung into action as a 1-5 favorite but it was not expected he would be so devastating.

It was strictly an artistic success for the New Yorker, for he battled for a 27½ percent slice of the net receipts that totaled only $7,242.

Chuck Connors Sent to Coast

Chicago, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today assigned pitcher Doyle Lade and first-sacker Chuck Connors to Los Angeles and bought left handed pitcher Fred Baczewski from the Angeles.

Lade spent all of last season with Los Angeles, having an 8-6 record. Connors, a .300 hitter earlier in the year with Los Angeles, played 66 games for the Cubs and batted .239.

Baczewski, 25, had a 12-10 mark with Los Angeles. His 129 strikeouts placed third in the Pacific Coast League. He hurled 252 innings and had an ERA of 3.71.

Louis Determined To Regain Title

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—As long as either Jersey Joe Walcott or Ezzard Charles is heavyweight champion, Joe Louis will keep on chasing after the golden crown.

The old Brown Bomber made that clear today as he resumed practice for his Oct. 26 ten rounder with undefeated Rocky Marciano in Madison Square Garden.

Asked how long he intended to keep on fighting, Joe pounded his gloves together and said "as long as either Walcott or Charles is champion, I'm going to keep on chasing.

I don't know how long that's going to be, but I'll be waiting. I'm going to stick around while either one of them is champion. I can beat them.

"Of course if some 23-year old kid comes along and wins the title somehow, then I guess I'll have to call it quits," said Joe with a grin. "'Cause then, by the time I get a shot, my grey beard will be hanging around my knees."

Louis was 37 on May 31. Walcott turned 37 on Jan 31 according to the record books but there are many in the business who believe he is past 40. Age is creeping up on Charles, too. He reached the 30 mark on July 20.

Louis defeated Walcott in both of their clashes and was badly beaten by Charles in their single meeting.

New Bosox Skipper

Los Angeles, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Los Angeles Times said last night it has learned reliably that Lou Boudreau will become the manager of the Boston Red Sox, replacing Steve O'Neill. The Times said Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians from 1942 through 1950, will make sweeping changes and might consider selling slugger Ted Williams if the proper deal can be made.

Strike Vote Called

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A strike vote from 50,000 workers in 45 plants of the General Electric Co. has been called for by the United Electrical Workers (UE). The IUE claims 70,000 members of 55 GE plants. It accepted a basic pay raise of two and a half per cent.

Pretty Blonde Takes $16

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A pretty blonde with a gun marched a 62-year-old housewife up and down stairs searching for loot in her Brooklyn home yesterday, then left her tied in a chair after taking $16. The unidentified blonde, about 22 years old, got into Mrs. Theresa Mulle's home by posing as a social worker seeking foster home for children. Mrs. Mulle, whose family were at work, said she might find some younger friend to take in children.

Shawangunk GOP Meeting Draws 74

There was a record attendance of 74 at the Shawangunk District No. 3 Republican Club meeting at the Walker Valley firehouse on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10.

Ulster County Attorney Fred Stang, also a member of the club, gave a timely talk.

He declared that we need the two-party system of government, and differentiated between the two by saying that the Republican party was the servant, not the master, of the people.

"In the Republican party, are men who know what they are doing," Attorney Stang said, "doing it honestly, and who have not been found wanting; men who have the interest of the taxpayers at heart. . . . There are no Communists in the New York state government.

He paid a high compliment to Edward E. Murray when he said, "You can be very proud of your Ulster county welfare commissioner. He is a conscientious public official."

He also commended Jesse McHugh, town supervisor, on work very well done in that office.

Mortimer Johnson, newly elected president, presided over the meeting. A letter from Senator Arthur H. Wicks, commending the club work was read by the secretary, Mrs. Margaret Tremper.

Township officials present were Jesse McHugh, supervisor; Mrs. Catherine Miller, clerk; James B. Van Penney, councilman; Harold Garrison, assessor; Edward E. Murray, Ulster county welfare director; Henry Marl, highway superintendent; and Daniel Van Alst, committee chairman.

Entertainment chairman, Mrs. Annette Staff, announced a card party for the club on Saturday evening, Dec. 1, at the Walker Valley firehouse.

Publicity chairman, Mrs. Norma Jones, read a letter from the Citizens' Public Expenditure Survey and distributed booklets, entitled "You Pay the Taxes."

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Annette Staff and her assistants, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitelaw, Edward and Buddy Staff.

Nick Savino of the City Minor League and Elizabeth Schoonmaker, the tall bowling starlet of the Women's Major and other distaff wheels, took over the high scoring spots with triples of 583 and 553 in last night's firing on local lanes.

Savino hammered out solos of 223, 165 and 195, while Miss Schoonmaker, who figures to be a standout star of the future, led a spirited women's session with 188, 175 and 190.

Other circuit leaders were: William Dean with 214-211-149—574 in the Good Neighbor; Jim Moss, 167-190-142, Electrol Night Shift; and Orville Van Alstyne 165-188-224—577 in the Independent loop.

NATIONAL NOTES: Bowlers of Columbus, Ohio, have picked up an idea which originated in San Antonio, Texas, a few seasons ago. They plan on sending their old bowling shirts to the needy people of Europe. Buzz Fazio and Tony Lindeman of the Detroit Strohs are the new national doubles match game champions. They recently defeated Ned Day and Buddy Bomar of Chicago by 1201 pins in a 48-game home and home match. Lindeman is the 1951 American Bowling Congress all-events champion. The Boston Store team of Urbana, Ohio, scored a 790-pin win over the Top Hat team in the Classic League there in a regular league session. The winning team totaled 3016 and the losers had 2226 for the most one-sided match in ABC records. National scoring leaders are the present time: five-man team, Ziern Antiques, St. Louis, 3438; five-man team high game, Ziern Antiques, St. Louis 1276; four-man team, Carbone Motors, Utica, 2400; four-man team high game, Carbone Motors, Utica, 898; individual three-games, Jay Pfister, Berwyn, Ill., 791. Total claims approved for high game awards by the ABC for the 1951-52 season through Oct. 8 were five 300s, three 299s and three 298s.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16 (AP)—Norman Van Brocklin, professional football's outstanding second string quarterback, has picked up right where he left off last year—leading the National Football League in the very important art of forward passing.

The Los Angeles Rams' 1950 league passing champ, who plays mostly when teammate Bob Waterfield is having a bad day or is on the injured list, already has an average gain of 11.3 yards for his 67 attempts and 757 yards gained. This high powered "substitute" leads in throwing touchdown passes with eight. Otto Graham of Cleveland rates second on 576 yards gained and two touchdowns.

With Van Brocklin leading the passers, it's only natural that two of the Ram stars are the top pass catchers in the league. Elroy Hirsch is number one man at catching the pigskin with 20 for 389 yards. Close behind is last season's champ and record holder, Tom Fears, with 16 receptions for 284 yards. Fran Polsfoot of the Chicago Cardinals also has latched onto 16 passes but only for 196 yards.

Top Runner

Eddie Price of the New York Giants tops the ground gainers by the narrow margin of five yards. Price, in his sophomore season as a pro, has carried the ball 50 times for 239 yards, an average of 4.8 yards. Veri Lillywhite of the revitalized San Francisco Forty Niners has gone 234 yards on 30 attempts, an average of 7.8. Bob Hoernschemeyer, of Detroit, ranks third with 183 yards gained.

Bob Mann of Green Bay and Hirsch are tied for the scoring leadership each having registered 36 points. Doak Walker, also of Detroit, the scoring champ in 1950, ranks third with 33.

In other departments:

Horace Gillom of Cleveland leads the punters with an average of 47.3 yards. Bob Smith of Detroit is second on a 45.9 average.

Buddy Young of the New York Yanks tops the punt return artists with an average of 39.7. Pittsburgh's Joe Geri has returned kickoffs an average of 54 yards per try to lead that department, while Ray Ramsey of the Cardinals is number one in pass interceptions with five for 90 yards.

Cartier Kayoes Rindone in First

Boston, Oct. 16 (AP)—Adonis-like Walter Cartier's campaign for a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's middleweight boxing title took on added momentum today as a result of his 48-second knockout of Joe Rindone, heretofore durable Bostonian.

The photogenic Cartier, from New York's Greenwich Village, startled a slim 3,836 Boston Garden crowd with his terrific punching power while knocking out a local favorite so early in the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder.

As soon as the battlers came together for the start, Cartier hooked a short left that crashed Rindone's overly jutting jaw and put him down for a four-count. Rindone appeared dazed when he regained his feet. Thereupon Cartier measured him with a right and left to the jaw.

As Rindone reeled backwards towards his corner, the handsome New Yorker landed three much heavier lefts and rights to the head and put Rindone away. Cartier was as deliberate in that series as he would be punching a bag in a gymnasium.

Cartier swung into action as a 1-5 favorite but it was not expected he would be so devastating.

It was strictly an artistic success for the New Yorker, for he battled for a 27½ percent slice of the net receipts that totaled only $7,242.

Chuck Connors Sent to Coast

Chicago, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today assigned pitcher Doyle Lade and first-sacker Chuck Connors to Los Angeles and bought left handed pitcher Fred Baczewski from the Angeles.

Lade spent all of last season with Los Angeles, having an 8-6 record. Connors, a .300 hitter earlier in the year with Los Angeles, played 66 games for the Cubs and batted .239.

Baczewski, 25, had a 12-10 mark with Los Angeles. His 129 strikeouts placed third in the Pacific Coast League. He hurled 252 innings and had an ERA of 3.71.

Louis Determined To Regain Title

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Oct. 16 (AP)—As long as either Jersey Joe Walcott or Ezzard Charles is heavyweight champion, Joe Louis will keep on chasing after the golden crown.

The old Brown Bomber made that clear today as he resumed practice for his Oct. 26 ten rounder with undefeated Rocky Marciano in Madison Square Garden.

Asked how long he intended to keep on fighting, Joe pounded his gloves together and said "as long as either Walcott or Charles is champion, I'm going to keep on chasing.

I don't know how long that's going to be, but I'll be waiting. I'm going to stick around while either one of them is champion. I can beat them.

"Of course if some 23-year old kid comes along and wins the title somehow, then I guess I'll have to call it quits," said Joe with a grin. "'Cause then, by the time I get a shot, my grey beard will be hanging around my knees."

Louis was 37 on May 31. Walcott turned 37 on Jan 31 according to the record books but there are many in the business who believe he is past 40. Age is creeping up on Charles, too. He reached the 30 mark on July 20.

Louis defeated Walcott in both of their clashes and was badly beaten by Charles in their single meeting.

New Bosox Skipper

Los Angeles, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Los Angeles Times said last night it has learned reliably that Lou Boudreau will become the manager of the Boston Red Sox, replacing Steve O'Neill. The Times said Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians from 1942 through 1950, will make sweeping changes and might consider selling slugger Ted Williams if the proper deal can be made.

Strike Vote Called

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A strike vote from 50,000 workers in 45 plants of the General Electric Co. has been called for by the United Electrical Workers (UE). The UE's bitter rival, the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), also took a strike vote recently before reaching agreement with General Electric. The IUE claims 70,000 members of 55 GE plants. It accepted a basic pay raise of two and a half per cent.

Port Ewen, Oct. 16—Water bills mailed for the quarter ending September 20 are in error in reference to the penalty date printed thereon, according to an announcement made today.

The bills stipulate that payment must be made on or before October 15. This is an error, the correct penalty date being November 15, a Town of Esopus official said today.

Pretty Blonde Takes $16

New York, Oct. 16 (AP)—A pretty blonde with a gun marched a 62-year-old housewife up and down stairs searching for loot in her Brooklyn home yesterday, then left her tied in a chair after taking $16. The unidentified blonde, about 22 years old, got into Mrs. Theresa Mulle's home by posing as a social worker seeking foster home for children. Mrs. Mulle, whose family were at work, said she might find some younger friend to take in children.

Shawangunk GOP Meeting Draws 74

There was a record attendance of 74 at the Shawangunk District No. 3 Republican Club meeting at the Walker Valley firehouse on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10.

Ulster County Attorney Fred Stang, also a member of the club, gave a timely talk.

He declared that we need the two-party system of government, and differentiated between the two by saying that the Republican party was the servant, not the master, of the people.

"In the Republican party, are men who know what they are doing," Attorney Stang said, "doing it honestly, and who have not been found wanting; men who have the interest of the taxpayers at heart. . . . There are no Communists in the New York state government.

He paid a high compliment to Edward E. Murray when he said, "You can be very proud of your Ulster county welfare commissioner. He is a conscientious public official."

He also commended Jesse McHugh, town supervisor, on work very well done in that office.

Mortimer Johnson, newly elected president, presided over the meeting. A letter from Senator Arthur H. Wicks, commending the club work was read by the secretary, Mrs. Margaret Tremper.

Township officials present were Jesse McHugh, supervisor; Mrs. Catherine Miller, clerk; James B. Van Penney, councilman; Harold Garrison, assessor; Edward E. Murray, Ulster county welfare director; Henry Marl, highway superintendent; and Daniel Van Alst, committee chairman.

Grand Opening Set By Produce Concern

The official grand opening of their new produce warehouse, 36 O'Neil street, will be observed by Zwick & Schwartz Wednesday, starting at 8 p. m.

For 18 years the produce combine has done business in Kingston and formerly was situated on Mill street, downtown.

Due to expanding business, the firm took over the former Hummer feed location on O'Neil street from which its trucks have been operating for several weeks.

Wednesday's opening is for customers and friends of the concern.

Y Meeting Schedule

A YMCA executive committee meeting will be held tonight at 8 o'clock instead of a session by the board of directors, and on October 24 there will be a special meeting of the directors to discuss the YM program for the year.

Bowling

Nick Savino and Elizabeth Schoonmaker Roll Top Bowling Triples of 583, 553

Nick Savino of the City Minor League and Elizabeth Schoonmaker, the tall bowling starlet of the Women's Major and other distaff wheels, took over the high scoring spots with triples of 583 and 553 in last night's firing on local lanes.

Savino hammered out solos of 223, 165 and 195, while Miss Schoonmaker, who figures to be a standout star of the future, led a spirited women's session with 188, 175 and 190.

Not a single "500' was recorded in the Electrol circuit, with Jim Moss' 499 standing up as the top triple. Tom Sickler and C. Avery tied with 488s. Mike Milano tossed a 485 and C. Tobias and Adam Thiel rolled 484s.

Tom Welch powered three scores of 180s for a runnerup 561 in the Independent, with Ed Trombley toppling 548 and Eddie Marks, 538. Other top bowlers included Harry Pierce with 522; Ray Roux 511; Frank Roe 208—507; Milt Cole, Sr., and Jack Hartman, 506.

Nellie Alverson sandwiched a 214 with 155 and 158 for a sparkling 527 series in Monday's session of the B.Y.A. League.

Runnerup Nell Glennon shot 458, with Dorothea Walthery hitting for 417. F. Keizer rolled 408 and G. Hoyt, 404. Jeanne Ford led the Junior division with 378.

NATIONAL NOTES: Bowlers of Columbus, Ohio, have picked up an idea which originated in San Antonio, Texas, a few seasons ago. They plan on sending their old bowling shirts to the needy people of Europe. Buzz Fazio and Tony Lindeman of the Detroit Strohs are the new national doubles match game champions. They recently defeated Ned Day and Buddy Bomar of Chicago by 1201 pins in a 48-game home and home match. Lindeman is the 1951 American Bowling Congress all-events champion. The Boston Store team of Urbana, Ohio, scored a 790-pin win over the Top Hat team in the Classic League there in a regular league session. The winning team totaled 3016 and the losers had 2226 for the most one-sided match in ABC records. National scoring leaders are the present time: five-man team, Ziern Antiques, St. Louis, 3438; five-man team high game, Ziern Antiques, St. Louis, 1276; four-man team, Carbone Motors, Utica, 2400; four-man team high game, Carbone Motors, Utica, 898; individual three-games, Jay Pfister, Berwyn, Ill., 791. Total claims approved for high game awards by the ABC for the 1951-52 season through Oct. 8 were five 300s, three 299s and three 298s.

Rescue Patrols Out

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Rescue patrols rose at dawn from air force bases around the North Atlantic to scan the waves for a big plane lost yesterday out of the Azores with 11 men. Through the night some 50 planes had roamed the skies along a great circle route from Westover Air Force Base, near Boston, listening for any repetition of a faint SOS heard yesterday, and looking for any peril light from the sea. The lost craft, a C-97 Boeing military transport, left Lages Air Force Station in the Azores—Portuguese islands in the East Atlantic—at 3:45 a. m. (EST) yesterday. It headed for Westover Field, where it was due at 2:22 p. m. (EST). It was carrying 3½ tons of mail and four tons of other cargo. It was last heard from definitely at 4.28 a. m., less than an hour after it was airborne. Its radio report indicated it was flying through turbulent air, possibly a thunderstorm.

$5,000 Verdict Won By Burke Family

Three Kripplebush sisters who were injured in an automobile crash on December 5, 1948, while returning home from a dance sued the driver of the car in which they were riding. Two of them, and their father, Michael J. Burke, were awarded verdicts while the third girl, who was but slightly injured, did not participate in the $5,000 verdicts which were returned in Supreme Court Monday afternoon.

On the evening of December 5, 1948, Patricia, Florence and Rose Ann Burke were riding home with Myron F. Avery when his 1933 car went off the road on a slight curve near the Anderson Garage at Accord, struck a pole and injured the girls. Actions were brought against both young Avery and his parents but the action as against the parents was dismissed since Avery has become 21 years of age since the accident.

No Defense

There was no defense to the action and Patricia Burke was awarded $500. Florence Burke was awarded $3,500 and Michael J. Burke was awarded $1,000. No award was made Rose Ann Burke who was but slightly injured. Florence Burke received a bad cut on the forehead, her left ankle was broken and she suffered other injuries. She lost considerable time from work in addition to being out 10 weeks after the accident. Patricia lost two weeks time. The girls were treated at the hospital after the accident.

William A. Kelly appeared for the plaintiffs. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

Admits Violations

During the undefended action portions of the testimony taken before the Motor Vehicle Commission hearing on the accident were read into the record. At the hearing held on August 5, 1949, Avery told the commissioner that he had no license to operate a car and never had one, that he had driven about eight months. He stated the brakes on the car were poor, the steering apparatus was bad and that at the time of the crash he was zig-zagging over the road and traveling at fast rate of speed. He also testified on the hearing that one of the girls had protested over the speed and his driving just prior to the accident. In addition Avery said he had been drinking beer from about 8 p. m., until just before the accident and he did not know how much he had consumed, perhaps 10 glasses or more. The lights on his car were not in good condition, he told the commissioner.

The car left the road and struck a pole on a slight curve and it was some time before the party was able to flag down a car and get to the hospitals.

Burke testified he had contracted hospital and doctors bills in the sum of $230.50.

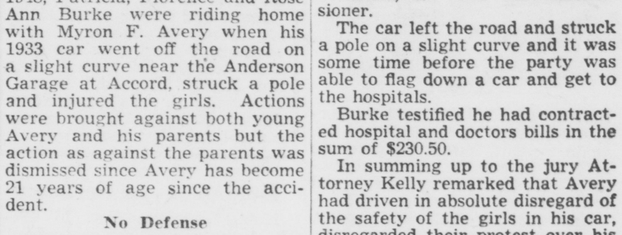

In summing up to the jury Attorney Kelly remarked that Avery had driven in absolute disregard of the safety of the girls in his car, disregarded their protest over his driving and after the accident and even now was "indifferent" to the injuries and did not even appear in court. He asked a substantial award.

The jury retired at 3:15 and returned at 4:27 with the verdicts.

Wurtsboro, Oct. 16 (AP)—This mountain village didn't need a new firehouse, but it did need a new fire truck. So it bought one. Now it needs—and will build—a new firehouse. The new truck was too big to go in the old one.

Rescue Patrols Out

Washington, Oct. 16 (AP)—Rescue patrols rose at dawn from air force bases around the North Atlantic to scan the waves for a big plane lost yesterday out of the Azores with 11 men. Through the night some 50 planes had roamed the skies along a great circle route from Westover Air Force Base, near Boston, listening for any repetition of a faint SOS heard yesterday, and looking for any peril light from the sea. The lost craft, a C-97 Boeing military transport, left Lages Air Force Station in the Azores—Portuguese islands in the East Atlantic—at 3:45 a. m. (EST) yesterday. It headed for Westover Field, where it was due at 2:22 p. m. (EST). It was carrying 3½ tons of mail and four tons of other cargo. It was last heard from definitely at 4.28 a. m., less than an hour after it was airborne. Its radio report indicated it was flying through turbulent air, possibly a thunderstorm.

$5,000 Verdict Won By Burke Family

Three Kripplebush sisters who were injured in an automobile crash on December 5, 1948, while returning home from a dance sued the driver of the car in which they were riding. Two of them, and their father, Michael J. Burke, were awarded verdicts while the third girl, who was but slightly injured, did not participate in the $5,000 verdicts which were returned in Supreme Court Monday afternoon.

On the evening of December 5, 1948, Patricia, Florence and Rose Ann Burke were riding home with Myron F. Avery when his 1933 car went off the road on a slight curve near the Anderson Garage at Accord, struck a pole and injured the girls. Actions were brought against both young Avery and his parents but the action as against the parents was dismissed since Avery has become 21 years of age since the accident.

No Defense

There was no defense to the action and Patricia Burke was awarded $500. Florence Burke was awarded $3,500 and Michael J. Burke was awarded $1,000. No award was made Rose Ann Burke who was but slightly injured. Florence Burke received a bad cut on the forehead, her left ankle was broken and she suffered other injuries. She lost considerable time from work in addition to being out 10 weeks after the accident. Patricia lost two weeks time. The girls were treated at the hospital after the accident.

William A. Kelly appeared for the plaintiffs. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

Admits Violations

During the undefended action portions of the testimony taken before the Motor Vehicle Commission hearing on the accident were read into the record. At the hearing held on August 5, 1949, Avery told the commissioner that he had no license to operate a car and never had one, that he had driven about eight months. He stated the brakes on the car were poor, the steering apparatus was bad and that at the time of the crash he was zig-zagging over the road and traveling at fast rate of speed. He also testified on the hearing that one of the girls had protested over the speed and his driving just prior to the accident. In addition Avery said he had been drinking beer from about 8 p. m., until just before the accident and he did not know how much he had consumed, perhaps 10 glasses or more. The lights on his car were not in good condition, he told the commissioner.

The car left the road and struck a pole on a slight curve and it was some time before the party was able to flag down a car and get to the hospitals.

Burke testified he had contracted hospital and doctors bills in the sum of $230.50.

In summing up to the jury Attorney Kelly remarked that Avery had driven in absolute disregard of the safety of the girls in his car, disregarded their protest over his driving and after the accident and even now was "indifferent" to the injuries and did not even appear in court. He asked a substantial award.

The jury retired at 3:15 and returned at 4:27 with the verdicts.

For deep snow and mud your best bet is the STUDDED SURE-GRIP
by GOODYEAR
• Angular arrangements of heavy studs give maximum traction.
• Studs clean themselves. Mud and snow funnel off as tire revolves.
• Shoulder blocks dig in on soft going. Takes plenty of tough beatings.
• The best tire when driving in mud or snow.
